Ready To Launch Chest Drive At Meeting This Evening

Chest Workers Will Open Drive For $72,000 Fund

First Meeting In Year's Campaign To Take Place Tonight

REPORT LUNCHEONS START ON TUESDAY

Hope To Complete Campaign During Week—Eight Institutions Benefit

The opening gun of New Castle's 1934 Community Chest drive will be fired tonight. At the Castleton at 8:30 o'clock, an army of citizen-volunteers will rally to hear General Chairman W. Walter Brabham and his aides issue final campaign instructions and to select, after the explanatory talks are over, the prospects whom they are to solicit for pledges tomorrow. A dinner in the ballroom will precede the opening meeting—and the workers—all of them—are going to "pay the freight." In other words all campaign dinners and luncheons will be paid for by the team members.

Leaders hoped today that the $72,000 which the chest should raise will be subscribed by Friday night, the night the "Victory Dinner" is to be held.

First Report Tuesday

The first report luncheon of the workers comes Tuesday at 12:10 at the Castleton. The second on Wednesday, the third on Thursday and the fourth on the "over-the-top" report on Friday evening.

Eight of the city's leading character-building agencies, the Y. M. C. A., the Y. W. C. A., the City Rescue Mission, the Boy Scouts, the Girl Scouts, the Margaret Henry Children's home, the Red Cross and the Jameson Memorial hospital, will receive support from the $72,000.

PA NEW OBSERVES

Dear Pa News:

I was asked last week if there were any insects which the chest should raise to be subscribed by Friday night, the night the "Victory Dinner" is to be held.

Quite a heavy frost was observed by early risers this morning. There was considerable moisture in the air, however, and the damage to late crops may not have been so severe. The temperature dropped to 36 degrees at the U. S. weather observing station here, four degrees above the freezing mark.

Points north of the city must have had heavier rains during the latter part of last week than were noted here. The Neshannock creek was high Saturday, and the Shenango showed a rise of two feet Sunday morning. It is starting to fall today.

Pa News was informed this morning that several swarms of a sickle (Continued On Page Two)

A Proclamation

Whereas, the call has gone forth to fill, for the eleventh year, the New Castle Community Chest, and

Whereas, the Community Chest is the semi-official welfare and character building organization, comprised of eight of our most worthy affiliated agencies, having for its purpose the relief of those who are deprived of life's necessities; the providing of medical care for those who are sick; aiding the morale of the unemployed; and the surrounding of youth with all uplifting influences necessary to build and maintain stalwart character, and

Whereas, in the past there were eight or more separate drives and many other means of fund raising for the financing of the current operating expenses of these agencies. Now through the organization of the Chest these have been eliminated in New Castle by the combining of all in one annual campaign, and

Whereas, the human needs of New Castle and the health and happiness of all are being better handled and safeguarded than ever before, the Community Chest plan being most efficient, economical and satisfactory.

THEREFORE, I, Charles B. Mayne, mayor of the city of New Castle, proclaim the week of October 1st as "Community Chest Week" and urge all citizens to co-operate wholeheartedly and give most generously when approached by the volunteer workers during that period.

CHARLES B. MAYNE,
Mayor of the City of New Castle.

Three Liners In Battles At Sea

(International News Service)

BOSTON, Oct. 1.—Lives of more than 300 persons had been in peril for a time as three liners fought threatened destruction off the Atlantic coast, with rescue craft rushing to aid or standing by ready to lend assistance.

The New England's Steamship Company's New Bedford was aground today on the rocks of Unadilla Island, a mile and a half off Woods Hole, with her captain, E. F. Negas, and his crew of 35 sticking to their posts after 51 passengers had been rescued by fishing vessel and private craft.

Off the coast of Nova Scotia, the German steamer, Kronprinzessin, reported a fire in the hold was under control, and she was proceeding to New York from Antwerp and Havre, with 120 passengers aboard. The coast guard cutter Cayuga stood by here ready to rush to her assistance.

The Red Liner Falcon was wallowing helplessly 635 miles off the Florida coast after losing a propeller, while the salvage tug Willett was enroute from New York to her assistance.

President Defends Policies Of New Deal, Says Future Is Bright

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1.—The New Deal has made mistakes, but in it, nevertheless, lies the propelling power that will drive America back to prosperity.

This was the story President Roosevelt told the people last night in his first comprehensive radio address for three months.

Broadly, the president's words were in augur of vital changes to come, an assurance that security and progress lie ahead, and an inventory that found much in the past 19 months for which to be thankful.

Mr. Roosevelt stacked the New Deal good against the bad. He noted things which must be changed, errors that must be corrected. Yet, as he took it all in, orders is revolting out of chaos, and the future is bright.

"Bringing Order" said the president, "that after years of uncertainty, culminating in the collapse of the spring of 1933, we are bringing order out of the old chaos with a greater certainty of the employment of labor at a reasonable wage and of more business at a fair profit. These governmental and industrial developments hold promise of new achievements for the nation."

New Jersey Is Delaying Move On Extradition

Wants Ironclad Case Before Hauptmann Is Taken From New York

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—Bruno Richard Hauptmann, Lindbergh case suspect, will be extradited to New Jersey to stand trial on murder and kidnap charges before being tried in New York for extortion, Governor A. Harry Moore of New Jersey indicated today.

"Probably before the trial in New York Hauptmann will be extradited to New Jersey," Governor Moore disclosed in Trenton, following a conference with Attorney General David T. Wilentz and Colonel Norman Schwarzkopf, head of the New Jersey state police.

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—Governor A. Harry Moore of New Jersey indicated in Trenton today that New Jersey's case against Bruno Richard Hauptmann, the Lindbergh case suspect, is not yet sufficiently strong to warrant the extradition of the prisoner from New York to New Jersey for trial on the charges of kidnapping and murder.

At the same time District Attorney Samuel J. Foley of the Bronx, New York City, declared there were "no new suspects" and that he is going ahead with his plans to bring the German machine gunner to trial here for extortion in connection with the $50,000 ransom payment by Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh through Dr. John F. ("Jasie") Condon, the intermediary.

"Unless Attorney General Wilentz has something I haven't heard about we haven't any more reason to bring Hauptmann to New Jersey than we had last week," Governor Moore said.

Not In Hurry.

Governor Moore previously had pointed out that New Jersey was not in any hurry to move against Hauptmann—that the man might be tried and even convicted of extortion in New York and that subsequently New Jersey might extradite him for trial at any time when the evidence appeared to warrant such a step.

It was evident that New Jersey wants to feel it has an iron-clad (Continued On Page Two)

Less Than 7,000 Eligible To Vote In City As Yet

Thousands Must Enroll On Last Registration Day, Saturday

VOTERS IN LARGE WARDS DILATORY

Importance Of November Election Should Occasion Huge Registration In City

Three out of every five eligible voters in New Castle are not registered to vote on November 6. Through indifference, forgetfulness or the promise to register on the last day, three out of every five voters are not on the registry books yet. This condition became known today when a tabulation of the total registration for the city was secured.

The grand total for the City of New Castle including all parishes is 6994. The possible total for the city is not less than 18,000 and is probably closer to 20,000. With the necessity of having a tax receipt to register removed, there is nothing to prevent the voters registering except sickness on all three days, or absence from the city. There is no epidemic raging and few people are out of the city on all three registration days. The answer seems to be indifference.

Vitality Important

The election on November 6 is vitally important. No state election in 25 years has been quite as important. Pennsylvania's choice of a United States Senator depends upon it. Pennsylvania's choice of a governor, a lieutenant governor and a secretary of Internal Affairs depends upon it. Locally the choice of a congressman and a member of the General Assembly depends upon the election of November 6.

Some of the ward totals of registration thus far would be humorous if they were not so tragic. The huge Second Ward has a possible registration of about 5000 has registered just 2002. The Third Ward and the Fourth ward, both large voting wards have totals of 909 and 1,252. Some wards show a better percentage. The Fifth ward shows a total of 667, while the Eighth ward seems to be the banner ward thus in the matter of percentage. The total in that ward is 491.

One more day remains for registering. That day is next Saturday, October 6. The polling precincts will be open until ten o'clock at night for registrations and when the polls close at ten, the barrier is up and voters cannot register for the November election. Only those who (Continued On Page Two)

Alleged Slayers Sought In Canada

ARE ACCUSED OF MURDERING GIRL

(International News Service)

GODERICH, Ont., Oct. 1.—Canadian police headed north today in search of Merton W. Goodrich and his wife, Florence, after learning the pair wanted in connection with the Detroit murder of Lillian Galsaher had been seen here a week ago.

Photographs of the couple were identified by the Rev. F. W. Crak, who said Goodrich and his wife had called at his home. Two other persons also identified the photographs as those of the couple seen in Goderich last Monday. The minister said Goodrich asked for money.

Sarina, Ontario, police also reported they were told by a salesman he had picked up a pair of hitchhikers, answering the descriptions of Goodrich and the woman, enroute to Goderich nine days ago.

MANY WILL GET WORK

Chest Workers Will Open Drive For $72,000 Fund

REPORT LUNCHEONS START ON TUESDAY

Hope To Complete Campaign During Week—Eight Institutions Benefit

The opening gun of New Castle's 1934 Community Chest drive will be fired tonight. At The Castleton at 6:30 o'clock, an army of citizen-volunteers will rally to hear General Chairman W. Walter Abraham and his aides issue final campaign instructions and to select, after the explanatory talks are over, the prospects whom they are to solicit for pledges tomorrow. A dinner in the ballroom will precede the opening meeting—and the workers—all of them—are going to "pay the freight." In other words all campaign dinners and luncheons will be paid for by the team members.

Leaders hoped today that the $72,000 which the Chest should raise will be subscribed by Friday night, the right the "Victory Dinner" is to be held.

First report luncheon of the workers comes Tuesday at 12:10 at The Castleton, the second, on Wednesday, the third on Thursday and the fourth report—the "over-the-top" report—on Friday evening.

Eight of the city's leading character-building agencies—the Y. M. C. A., the Y. W. C. A., the City Rescue Mission, the Boy Scouts, the Girl Scouts, the Margaret Henry Children's home, the Red Cross and the Jameson Memorial hospital, will receive support from the $72,000.

PA NEW OBSERVES

Dear Pa News:

I was asked last week if there were any insects that benefit man. It is estimated that about one half of the world's insects do damage to mankind. What makes it seem that there are so many insects about is the vast amount of vegetation that is required to keep life in the earth. There are millions of insects that inhabit the world which prey on other forms of insects life for their existence. You may see the ladybird beetle as it feeds on the destroying saw fly scale. It is strange but the wasp catch thousands of ants, flies and grasshoppers. Each day the dragonfly eats an amazing number of mosquitoes. And thus untold numbers of insects work daily in behalf of mankind.

OWEN PENFIELD FOX.

Quite a heavy frost was observed by early risers this morning. There was considerable moisture in the air, however, and the damage to late crops may not have been so severe. The temperature dropped to 36 degrees at the U. S. weather observing station here, four degrees above the freezing mark.

Points north of the city must have had heavier rains during the latter part of last week than were noted here. The Nesbannock creek was high Saturday, and the Shenango showed a rise of two feet Sunday morning. It is starting to fall today.

Pa News was informed this morning that several swings of a sickle (Continued On Page Two)

A Proclamation

Whereas, the call has gone forth to fill, for the eleventh year, the New Castle Community Chest, and

Whereas, the Community Chest is the semi-official welfare and character building organization comprised of eight of our most worthy affiliated agencies, having for its purpose the relief of those who are deprived of life's necessities; the providing of medical care for those who are sick; aiding the morale of the families of the unemployed; and the surrounding of youth with all uplifting influences necessary to build and maintain stalwart character, and

Whereas, in the past there were eight or more separate drives and many other means of fund raising for the financing of the current operating expenses of these agencies. Now through the organization of the Chest these have been eliminated in New Castle by the combining of all in one annual campaign, and

Whereas, the human needs of New Castle and the health and happiness of all are being better handled and safeguarded than ever before, the Community Chest plan being most efficient, economical and satisfactory.

THEREFORE, I, Charles B. Mayne, mayor of the city of New Castle, proclaim the week of October 1st as "Community Chest Week" and urge all citizens to co-operate wholeheartedly and give most generously when approached by the volunteer workers during that period.

CHARLES B. MAYNE,

Three Liners In Battles At Sea

(International News Service)

BOSTON, Oct. 1.—Lives of more than 300 persons had been in peril for a time as three liners fought threatened destruction off the Atlantic coast, with rescue craft rushing to aid or standing by ready to lend assistance.

The New England's Steamship Company's New Bedford was aground today on the rocks of Unacata Island, a mile and a half off Woods Hole, with her captain, E. F. Negas, and his crew of 35 sticking to their posts after 51 passengers had been rescued by fishing vessel and private craft.

Off the coast of Nova Scotia, the German steamer Koenigsstein, reported a fire in her hold was under control, and she was proceeding to New York from Antwerp and Havre, with 120 passengers aboard. The coast guard cutter Cayuga stood by here ready to rush to her assistance.

The Red Liner Falcon was wallowing helplessly 635 miles off the Florida coast after losing a propeller, while the salvage tug Willett was enroute from New York to her assistance.

President Defends Policies Of New Deal; Says Future Is Bright

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1.—The New Deal has made mistakes, but in it, nevertheless, lies the propelling power that will drive America back to prosperity.

This was the story President Roosevelt told the people last night in his first comprehensive radio address for three months.

Broadly, the president's words were in accord with changes to come, an assurance that security and progress lie ahead, and an inventory that found much in the past 19 months for which to be thankful.

Mr. Roosevelt stacked the New Deal good against the bad. He noted things which must be changed, errors that must be corrected. Yet, as he took it all in all, orders is revolting out of chaos, and the future is bright.

"Bringing Order," "I am happy to report," said the president, "that after years of uncertainty, culminating in the collapse of the spring of 1933, we are bringing order out of the old chaos with a greater certainty of the employment of labor at a reasonable wage and of more business at a fair profit. These governmental and industrial developments hold promise of new achievements for the nation."

New Jersey Is Delaying Move On Extradition

EXTORTION CASE IS LIKELY TO BE TRIED

No Comment On Report Lindy Partially Identifies Hauptmann As "Look-out"

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—Bruno Richard Hauptmann, Lindbergh case suspect, will be extradited to New Jersey to stand trial on murder and kidnap charges, before being tried in New York for extortion, Governor A. Harry Moore of New Jersey indicated today.

"Probably before the trial in New York Hauptmann will be extradited to New Jersey," Governor Moore disclosed in Trenton, following a conference with Attorney General David T. Wilentz and Colonel Norman Schwarzkopf, head of the New Jersey state police.

By JAMES L. KILGALLAN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—Governor A. Harry Moore of New Jersey indicated in Trenton today that New Jersey's case against Bruno Richard Hauptmann, the Lindbergh case suspect, is not yet sufficiently strong to warrant the extradition of the prisoner from New York to New Jersey for trial on the charges of kidnapping and murder.

At the same time District Attorney Samuel J. Foley of the Bronx, New York City, declared there were "no new suspects" and that he is going ahead with his plans to bring the German machine gunner to trial here for extortion in connection with the $50,000 ransom payment by Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh through Dr. John F. ("Jafie") Condon, the intermediary.

"Unless Attorney General Wilentz has something I haven't heard about, we haven't any more reason to bring Hauptmann to New Jersey than we had last week," Governor Moore said.

Not In Hurry.

Governor Moore previously had pointed out that New Jersey was not in any hurry to move against Hauptmann—that the man might be tried and even convicted of extortion in New York and that subsequently New Jersey might extradite him for trial at any time when the evidence appeared to warrant such a step.

It was evident that New Jersey wants to feel it has an iron-clad (Continued On Page Two)

Alleged Slayers Sought In Canada

ARE ACCUSED OF MURDERING GIRL

(International News Service)

GODERICH, Ont., Oct. 1.—Canadian police headed north today in search of Merton W. Goodrich and his wife, Florence, after learning the pair wanted in connection with the Detroit murder of Lillian Gallagher had been seen here a week ago.

Photographs of the couple were identified by the Rev. F. W. Crak, who said Goodrich and his wife had called at his home. Two other persons also identified the photographs as those of the couple seen in Goderich last Monday. The minister said Goodrich asked for money.

Sarna, Ontario, police also reported they were told by a salesman he had picked up a pair of hitchhikers, answering the descriptions of Goodrich and the woman, enroute to Goderich nine days ago.

Welfare Probers Will Make Report

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 1.—Members of a committee investigating welfare activities in Greene county, where miners charged they were discriminated against in the granting of relief allowances, today announced they will submit a preliminary report to Eric H. Biddle, state relief administrator, shortly.

A more complete analysis of the charges will be submitted later "if necessary."

J. E. Isherwood, local relief head, denied the charges.

WILL ROGERS says:

(Special To The News)

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—The greatest aid that I know of that any man could give the world today would be a correct definition of "liberty."

Everybody is running around in a circle announcing that somebody's pinched their "liberty."

Now what might be one class's "liberty" might be another class's "poison." Course I guess absolute "liberty" couldn't mean anything but that anybody can do anything they want to any time they want to. Well, any half-wit can tell that that wouldn't work.

So the question arises, "How much liberty can I get and get away with?" Well, you can get no more than you give. That's my definition, but you get perfect "liberty" to work out your own, so get in, and let's get this "liberty" business settled.

Yours,
Will Rogers

Less Than 7,000 Eligible To Vote In City As Yet

VOTERS IN LARGE WARDS DILATORY

Importance Of November Election Should Occasion Huge Registration In City

Three out of every five eligible voters in New Castle are not registered to vote on November 6. Thorough indifference, forgetfulness or the promise to register on the last day, three out of every five voters are not on the registry books yet. This condition became known today when a tabulation of the total registration for the city was secured.

The grand total for the City of New Castle including all parties is 6994. The possible total for the city is not less than 18,000 and is probably closer to 20,000. With the necessity of having a tax receipt to register removed, there is nothing to prevent the voters registering except sickness on all three days, or absence from the city. There is no epidemic raging and few people are out of the city on all three registration days. The answer seems to be indifference.

Vitality Important.

The election on November 6 is vitally important. No state election in 25 years has been quite as important. Pennsylvania's choice of a United States Senator depends upon it. Pennsylvania's choice of a governor, a lieutenant governor and a secretary of Internal Affairs depends upon it. Locally the choice of a congressman and a member of the General Assembly depends upon the election of November 6.

Some of the ward totals of registration thus far could be humorous if they were not so tragic. The huge Second Ward with a possible registration of about 5000 has registered just 2002. The Third Ward and the Fourth ward, both large voting wards have totals of 909 and 1,252. Some wards show a better percentage. The Fifth ward shows a total of 667, while the Eighth ward seems to be the banner ward thus in the matter of percentage. The total in that ward is 491.

One more day remains for registering. That day is next Saturday, October 6. The polling precincts will be open until ten o'clock at night for registrations and when the polls close at ten, the barrier is up and voters cannot register for the November election. Only those who (Continued On Page Two)

Midnight Swim

After visiting his new found love, the prosecution charges, Robert took Freda on a midnight swim at Harvey's Lake on July 30. The state charges he concealed a blackjack in his bathing suit and as Freda plunged into the water he struck her down.

There is an alleged confession which prosecutor Thomas Lewis will attempt to get in evidence.

The defense maintains that Freda died from shock resulting from her sudden plunge into the icy water. The injury to her head is attributed to her striking a rock.

Edwards will take the witness stand in his fight to escape the electric chair, according to defense counsel Frank R. McGuigan.

START ON TUESDAY

Hope To Complete Cam-

Eight Institutions
Benefit

The opening gun of New Castle's 1934 Community Chest drive will be fired tonight. At the Castleton at 8:30 o'clock, an army of citizen-volunteers will rally to hear General Chairman W. Walter Braham and his aides issue final campaign instructions and to select, after the explanatory talks are over, the prospects whom they are to solicit for pledges tomorrow. A dinner in the ballroom will precede the opening meeting—and the workers—all of them—are going to "pay the freight." In other words all campaign dinners and luncheons will be paid for by the team members. Leaders hoped today that the $72,000 which the Chest should raise will be subscribed by Friday night, the night the "Victory Dinner" is to be held.

First Report Tuesday
The first report luncheon of the workers comes Tuesday at 12:10 at The Castleton, the second on Wednesday, the third on Thursday and the fourth report—the "over-the-top" report—on Friday evening. Eight of the city's leading character-building agencies, the Y. M. C. A., the Y. W. C. A., the City Rescue Mission, the Boy Scouts, the Girl Scouts, the Margaret Henry Children's home, the Red Cross and the Jamison Memorial hospital, will receive support from the $72,000.

PA NEWC OBSERVES

Dear Pa Newc:
I was asked last week if there were any insects that benefit man. It is estimated that about one half of the world's insects do damage to mankind. What makes it seem that there are so many insects about is the vast amount of vegetation that is required to keep life in the destroying bugs that are about to-day. There are millions of insects that inhabit the world which prey on other forms of insects life for their existence. You may see the ladybird beetle as it feeds on the destroying saw scale. It is strange but the wasps catch thousands of ants, flies and grasshoppers. Each day the dragonfly eats an amazing number of mosquitoes. And thus untold numbers of insects work daily in behalf of mankind.

Quite a heavy frost was observed by early risers this morning. There was considerable moisture in the air, however, and the damage to late crops may not have been so severe. The temperature dropped to 36 degrees at the U. S. weather observing station here, four degrees above the freezing mark.

Points north of the city must have had heavier rains during the latter part of last week than were noted here. The Neshannock creek was high Saturday, and the Shenango showed a rise of two feet Sunday morning. It is starting to fall today.

Pa Newc was informed this morning that several swings of a sickle

A Proclamation

Whereas, the call has gone forth to fill, for the eleventh year, the New Castle Community Chest, and
Whereas, the Community Chest is the semi-official welfare and character building organization comprised of eight of our most worthy affiliated agencies, having for its purpose the relief of those who are deprived of life's necessities; the providing of medical care for those who are sick; aiding the morale of the families of the unemployed, and the surrounding of youth with all uplifting influences necessary to build and maintain stalwart character, and
Whereas, in the past there were eight or more separate drives and many other means of fund raising for the financing of the current operating expenses of these agencies. Now through the organization of the Chest these have been eliminated in New Castle by the combining of all in one annual campaign, and
Whereas, the human needs of New Castle and the health and happiness of all are being better handled and safeguarded than ever before, the Community Chest plan being most efficient, economical and satisfactory.

THEREFORE, I, Charles B. Mayne, mayor of the city of New Castle, proclaim the week of October 1st as "Community Chest Week" and urge all citizens to co-operate wholeheartedly and give most generously when approached by the volunteer workers during that period.
CHARLES B. MAYNE,
Mayor of the City of New Castle.

As soon as the nominees have been determined, the names will be sent out for the final election.

Three Liners In Battles At Sea

(International News Service)
BOSTON, Oct. 1.—Lives of more than 300 persons had been in peril for a time as three liners fought threatened destruction off the Atlantic coast, with rescue craft rushing to aid or standing by ready to lend assistance.

The New England's Steamship Company's New Bedford was aground today on the rocks of Unacata Island, a mile and a half off Woods Hole, with her captain, E. F. Negas, and his crew of 35 sticking to their posts after 51 passengers had been rescued by fishing vessel and private craft.

Off the coast of Nova Scotia, the German steamer Koenigsberg reported a fire in her hold was under control, and she was proceeding to New York from Antwerp and Havre, with 120 passengers aboard. The coast guard cutter Cayuga stood by here ready to rush to her assistance.
The Red Liner Falcon was wallowing helplessly 635 miles off the Florida coast after losing a propeller, while the salvage tug Willett was enroute from New York to her assistance.

President Defends Policies Of New Deal; Says Future Is Bright

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Oct. 1.—The New Deal has made mistakes, but in it, nevertheless, lies the propelling power that will drive America back to prosperity.
This was the story President Roosevelt told the people last night in his first comprehensive radio address for three months.
Broadly, the president's words were in augur of vital changes to come, an assurance that security and progress lie ahead, and an inventory of that found much in the past 19 months for which to be thankful.
Mr. Roosevelt stacked the New Deal good against the bad. He noted things which must be changed, errors that must be corrected. Yet, as he took it all in all, orders is revolving out of chaos, and the future is bright.

"Bringing Order"
"I am happy to report," said the president, "that after years of uncertainty, culminating in the collapse of the spring of 1933, we are bringing order out of the old chaos with a greater certainty of the employment of labor at a reasonable wage and of more business at a fair profit. These governmental and industrial developments hold promise of new achievements for the nation." The address was of striking significance. In it, the executive took

EXTORTION CASE IS

No Comment On Report Lindy
Partially Identifies Hauptmann As "Look-

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—Bruno Richard Hauptmann, Lindbergh case suspect, will be extradited to New Jersey to stand trial on murder and kidnap charges, before being tried in New York for extortion, Governor A. Harry Moore of New Jersey indicated today.
"Probably before the trial in New York Hauptmann will be extradited to New Jersey," Governor Moore declared in Trenton, following a conference with Attorney General David T. Wilentz and Colonel Norman Schwarzkopf, head of the New Jersey state police.

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—Governor A. Harry Moore of New Jersey indicated in Trenton today that New Jersey's case against Bruno Richard Hauptmann, the Lindbergh case suspect, is not yet sufficiently strong to warrant the extradition of the prisoner from New York to New Jersey for trial on the charges of kidnaping and murder.

At the same time District Attorney Samuel J. Foley of the Bronx, New York City, declared there were "no new suspects" and that he is going ahead with his plans to bring the German machine gunner to trial here for extortion in connection with the $50,000 ransom payment by Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh through Dr. John F. ("Jasie") Condon, the intermediary.
"Unless Attorney General Wilentz has something I haven't heard about we haven't any more reason to bring Hauptmann to New Jersey than we had last week," Governor Moore said.

Not In Hurry.
Governor Moore previously had pointed out that New Jersey was not in any hurry to move against Hauptmann—that the man might be tried and even convicted of extortion in New York and that subsequently New Jersey might extradite him for trial at any time when the evidence appeared to warrant such a step.
It was evident that New Jersey wants to feel it has an iron-clad case.

MURDERING GIRL

(International News Service)
GODERICH, Ont., Oct. 1.—Canadian police headed north today in search of Merton W. Goodrich and his wife, Florence, after learning the pair wanted in connection with the Detroit murder of Lillian Gallaher. Photographs of the couple were identified by the Rev. F. W. Crak, who said Goodrich and his wife had called at his home. Two other persons also identified the photographs as those of the couple seen in Goderich last Monday. The minister said Goodrich asked for money.
Sarina, Ontario, police also reported they were told by a salesman he had picked up a pair of hitchhikers, answering the descriptions of Goodrich and the woman, enroute to Goderich nine days ago.

Welfare Probers Will Make Report

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Oct. 1.—Members of a committee investigating welfare activities in Greene county, where miners charged they were discriminated against in the granting of relief allowances, today announced they will submit a preliminary report to Eric H. Biddle, state relief administrator, shortly.
A more complete analysis of the charges will be submitted later "if necessary."
J. E. Isherwood, local relief head, denied the charges.

(Special To The News)
NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—That the greatest act I know of that any man could give the world today would be a correct definition of "liberty."

Everybody is running around in a circle announcing that somebody's pinched their "liberty."
Now what might be one class's "liberty" might be another class's "poison." Course I guess absolute "liberty" couldn't mean anything but that anybody can do anything they want to any time they want to. Well, any half-wit can tell that that wouldn't work.
So the question arises, "How much liberty can I get and get away with it?" Well, you can get no more than you give. That's my definition, but you get perfect "liberty" to work out your own, so get in, and let's get this "liberty" business settled.

Less Than 7,000 Eligible To Vote In City As Yet

Thousands Must Enroll On Last Registration Day, Saturday

VOTERS IN LARGE
WARDS DILATORY

Importance Of November
Election Should Occasion
Huge Registration
In City

Three out of every five eligible voters in New Castle are not registered to vote on November 6. Thorough indifference, forgetfulness or the promise to register on the last day, three out of every five voters are not on the registry books yet. This condition became known today when a tabulation of the total registration for the city was secured.

The grand total for the City of New Castle including all parties is 6994. The possible total for the city is not less than 18,000 and is probably closer to 20,000. With the necessity of having a tax receipt to register removed, there is nothing to prevent the voters registering except sickness on all three days, or absence from the city. There is no epidemic raging and few people are out of the city on all three registration days. The answer seems to be indifference.

Vitality Important
The election on November 6 is vitally important. No state election in 25 years has been quite as important. Pennsylvania's choice of a United States Senator depends upon it. Pennsylvania's choice of a governor, a lieutenant governor and a secretary of Internal Affairs depends upon it. Locally the choice of a congressman and a member of the General Assembly depends upon the election of November 6.

Some of the ward totals of registration thus far would be humorous if they were not so tragic. The huge Second Ward with a possible registration of about 5000 has registered just 2002. The Third Ward and the Fourth ward, both large voting wards have totals of 909 and 1,252. Some wards show a better percentage. The Fifth ward shows a total of 667, while the Eighth ward seems to be the banner ward thus in the matter of percentage. The total in that ward is 491.

One more day remains for registering. That day is next Saturday, October 6. The polling precincts will be open until ten o'clock at night for registrations and when the polls close at ten, the barrier is up and voters cannot register for the November election. Only those who

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., Oct. 1.—Five jurors were seated in the jury box when a luncheon adjournment was taken today at the "American tragedy" murder trial of Bobby Edwards.

They were: Earl Campbell, 34, laborer, Pittston; Michael Sullivan, 50, laborer, Pittston; William Foster, 54, trainman, Pittston; William Fahey, 49, watchman, Kingston; John Luft, 60, miner, Edwardsville.

WILKES-BARRE Oct. 1.—Dapper Robert Allen Edwards, Sunday school boy, amateur actor, surveyor's helper and ladies' man, goes on trial today for the murder of his fiancée, 26 year old Freda McKechnie.

The defendant is charged with trying to straighten the emotional triangle gripping him by killing his childhood sweetheart. Freda was to become a mother. Robert fell in love with another girl, Margaret Cain, 22 year old music teacher of East Aurora, N. Y.

Midnight Swim
After visiting his new found love, the prosecution charges, Robert took Freda on a midnight swim at Harvey's Lake on July 30. The state charges he concealed a blackjack in his bathing suit and as Freda plunged into the water he struck her down.

There is an alleged confession which prosecutor Thomas Lewis will attempt to get in evidence. The defense maintains that Freda died from shock resulting from her sudden plunge into the icy water. The injury to her head is attributed to her striking a rock. Edwards will take the witness stand in his fight to escape the electric chair, according to defense counsel Frank R. McGuigan. "Edwards is ready to tell his story"

Supreme Court Convenes Today

One Of Most Momentous Sessions Of 144 Years Of Existence Opens For

MANY IMPORTANT
RULINGS AWAITED

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Oct. 1.—With constitutionality of "new deal" legislation under fire, the supreme court today opened perhaps one of the most momentous sessions in its 144 years of existence.

Before the court ends its eight months term it is expected almost every phase of the gigantic emergency program of the Roosevelt administration will be reviewed.
Although five of the nine justices are beyond the retirement age of 70, it is generally expected that the court will remain unchanged during the year.

Liberal Sentiment.
Having divided five to four in important cases last year, backers of the "new deal" hope the liberal sentiment will prevail in the court's decisions.
Constitutionality of the NRA may be decided early in the term. One case in which validity of all sections of the recovery act is contested is set for argument October 8, and two other similar cases are before the court.

While it is possible that the cases may be decided without a comprehensive decision on the philosophy of "new deal" legislation, government lawyers and "new deal" opponents are hoping for a final answer.

Transportation Is Tied Up In Capital, Result Of Strike

GOVERNMENT FEARS SERIOUS OUTBREAK

By RICHARD ARMSTRONG
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HAVANA, Oct. 1.—Constitutional guarantees were suspended in Havana and Oriente provinces today as the national cabinet, in an emergency meeting, acted in swift determination to crush revolutionary terrorism expected to begin this morning.

Practically all transportation was tied up in the capital with truckmen, taxicab drivers, and bus operators striking in protest against higher-priced gasoline and a proposed increase in the vehicle tax.

Deaths for one student, wounds for ten others in a demonstration at Nuevitas, Camaguey province, and injuries for three ushered in the dread October 1—the day set for starting the anti-government campaign.

State Of Alarm

In suspecting constitutional guarantees, the government explained: "A state of alarm of a revolutionary nature exists in Oriente. The government believes that arms have been distributed for an outbreak of major proportions."

Hundreds of American tourists today faced the prospect of walking to their hotels and sight seeing on foot.

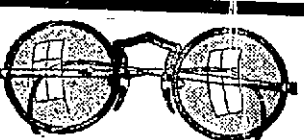

The first death came at Nuevitas, Camaguey, when soldiers fired on students demonstrating in commemoration of Rafael Trejo, a student communist leader killed at Havana four years ago. Disorders also occurred at Camaguey City. But no one was hurt.

of his friendship with Miss McKee, said McCulligan.

Miss Crain May Not Testify

Although the prosecution has invited Miss Crain to appear as a state witness, it is problematical whether she will appear as she is outside the subpoena jurisdiction of the court.

Twenty two witnesses have been called by the prosecution. A panel of eighty has been called by Judge William Valentine. The prospective jurors include many miners and their wives who have known Edwards and his fiancée since childhood.

The parents of Bobby and Freda are scheduled to be called as witnesses by opposing counsel.

The fathers were both employed by the Kingston Coal Company. The elder Edwards was paymaster. McKee was fire boss.

The Edwards family lived next to the McKees. The two families both attended the Bethesda Congregational church at Edwardsville.

CITY MAY BUY SEVERAL CHASSIS

Believe It Would Be More Economical Than To Hire Trucks

During an informal session held by council in Mayor Mayne's office today councilmen discussed the advisability of purchasing chassis and having bodies built rather than renting trucks to be used in connection with RWD projects here this fall and winter. Councilmen expressed the opinion that it would prove more economical and after the RWD work had been completed the city would have a fleet of trucks.

The large item of cost to the city in connection with RWD projects, they stated, was the hire of trucks. Several days ago it was reported that at least $30,000 worth of truck hire would be necessary for trucks used on all of the jobs which the city proposes to have the RWD complete. Engineer Hoskins reported that truck hire would cost $1 an hour or $6 a day for each truck.

Councilman Hoyland pointed out that a chassis could be purchased for approximately $450 or $500. A hydraulic hoist might make a small increase to this cost, he declared. Employees of the RWD, under his plan, would be employed to build the bodies for the trucks.

The other city officials apparently agreed with Hoyland's ideas and Councilman Davies pointed out that when the RWD work had been completed and the city would have a fleet of trucks which could be used.

During the time the trucks were used by the RWD the latter would pay drivers.

Noted Economists Urge "Sound Money"

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 1.—A warning that currency inflation threatens the United States with economic disaster was coupled today with an appeal for the election of congressional candidates pledged to the cause of "sound money."

The warning and appeal were embodied in a manifesto signed by 53 noted economists who have banded themselves together as the Economic National Committee on monetary policy. The statement was made public here through the efforts of Minor Patterson of the University of Pennsylvania's Wharton School of Commerce.

The Roosevelt administration's silver purchased law and devaluation charges, will "weaken and mutilate our currency system" and "into it provisions that will constitute an increased danger to this country until removed."

"The undersigned members of the Economic National Committee on monetary policy believe it necessary for the country's welfare that the next congress shall have a majority who, regardless of political party, stand unqualifiedly for a sound money program. Unless such members are elected, we believe that this country may be plunged into an orgy of currency inflation which will

PRESIDENT DEFENDS NEW DEAL POLICIES; SAYS FUTURE BRIGHT

specific accounts of his "serious doubts" for the first time publicly. In it, too, he recounted benefits in some measure, outlined those things which he now feels may have been cast aside.

There were five distinct phases in the speech. In each of these there was a vigorous defense of the operations, tactics and objectives of the New Deal. There was, running through it all, a caustic answer to the widespread complaints that the government is picking its nose too deeply into business, industry and the affairs of the people generally.

NRA, heart of the recovery program, which was so recently separated from the rule of Administration by Hugh S. Johnson, came in for vigorous support. At the same time, it was in this big unit that the president found things which seem to him unwise.

Employer And Employee Rapped.

Both the employer and the worker got sharp raps on the knuckle when Roosevelt called for a temporary peace between the ever warring factions. The president charged bluntly that neither has used the machinery set up for settling labor disputes peacefully.

The NRA discussion brought out Mr. Roosevelt's doubts, and was the occasion, too, which the speaker took advantage of to give Hugh Johnson a verbal put on the back as an able and energetic man.

Airing his doubts, the president said: "There may be a serious question as to the wisdom of many of those devices to control production, or to prevent destructive price cutting which many business organizations have insisted were necessary, or whether effect may have been to prevent that volume of production which would make possible lower prices and increased employment."

"Another serious question arises as to whether in fixing minimum wages on the basis of an hourly or weekly wage we have reached into the heart of the problem which is to provide such annual earnings for the lowest paid worker as will meet his minimum needs."

"We also question the wisdom of extending code requirements suited to the great industrial centers and to large employers, to the great number of small employers in the small communities."

N. R. Benefits.

Back of these doubts, however, was the expressed conviction that NRA benefits have been manifold. Then the executive outlined the recent reorganization of NRA under Donald R. Richberg, and charted the course for the future.

"We shall work out the workings of this new machinery for the second phase of NRA, modifying it where it needs modification and finally making recommendations to the congress, in order that the functions of NRA which have proved their worth may be made apart of the permanent machinery of the government."

After this, there was a defense of the big setup.

"Let me call your attention," said the president, "to the fact that the national industrial recovery act gave business men the opportunity they had sought for years to improve business through what has been called self government in industry."

"If the codes which have been written have gone too far in such matters as price fixing and limitation of production, let it be remembered that so far as possible, consistent with the immediate public interest of this past year and the vital necessity of improving labor conditions, the representatives of trade and industry were permitted to write their ideas into the codes."

To Review Actions.

"It is now time to review these actions as a whole to determine through deliberative means in the light of experience . . . whether the methods and policies adopted in the emergency have been best calculated to promote industrial recovery and a permanent general improvement of business and labor conditions."

Another vigorous defense voiced by the president was for his program of public works, and its close ally, relief, through work as a means of keeping the would-be worker off the relief rolls. He said: "To those who say that our expenditures . . . are a waste that we cannot afford, I answer that no country, however rich, can afford the waste of its human resources."

"I do not want to think that it is the destiny of any American to remain permanently on relief rolls." Mr. Roosevelt came, near the end of his speech to a few words for those who complained that the land and other countries pulled out of the depression by a "do nothing policy." His words, incidentally, carried warm praise for England.

Asks Fair Trial

Dealing with the labor question, Mr. Roosevelt in appealing for use of peaceful means for settlement of disputes said: "There should be at least a full and fair trial given to those means of ending industrial warfare; . . . accordingly, I propose to confer within the coming month with small groups of those truly representative of large employers of labor and of large groups of organized labor in order to seek their cooperation in establishing what I may describe as a specific trial period of industrial peace."

In addition to all these questions, issues and doubts, the president cited a few of what he chose to term general benefits of the recovery program. Near the conclusion of his speech he summed:

"Benefits of the industrial recovery program have come, not only to labor in the form of new jobs, relief from overwork and in relief from under-pay, but also to the owners and managers of industry because, together with a great increase in the payrolls, there has come a substantial rise in the total of industrial profits, a rise from a deficit figure in the first quarter of 1933 to a level of sustained profits within one year from the inauguration of the NRA."

NEW JERSEY IS DELAYING MOVE ON EXTRADITION

case against the suspect when it asks for his extradition on the kidnapping and murder charge.

All the authorities—New York and New Jersey alike—feel New York has an air-tight extortion case against Hauptmann in view of the finding of $14,590 of the Lindbergh ransom money in his garage.

Attorney General David A. Wilentz of New Jersey conferred with his assistant, Joseph L. Lanigan, and with Prosecutor Anthony M. Hauck, Jr., of Hunterdon (N. J.) county shortly before noon.

Later all three were to join Governor Moore and Colonel H. Norman Schwarzkopf, superintendent of the New Jersey state police, for a further discussion of the case.

Plan Extradition.

After this conference announcement was to be made as to what decision is reached with regard to the matter of Hauptmann's extradition.

Later Attorney General Wilentz said New Jersey's plan is to extradite Hauptmann.

Hauptmann, meanwhile, was being closely guarded in his cell in the Bronx county jail. His demeanor was as sullen and non-communicative as when he was first arrested almost a fortnight ago. He still adheres to the story that the money found in his garage was given to him for safekeeping by Isidor Fisch, who died last March in Germany.

When reporters saw District Attorney Foley this morning he told them Hauptmann would not be brought to his office today for further interrogation.

Foley said he was studying the legal aspects of the case preparatory to bringing Hauptmann to trial for extortion.

Deputy James Finn, the "ace" detective who was promoted for his brilliant work on the Lindbergh case, came to Foley's office with a large package—evidently Finn's files.

No Comment On Identification.

A slight commotion was caused when a man in clerical garb showed up with a photographer snapped his picture. He became very annoyed and wanted to know what the photographer represented, saying the pictures should be destroyed. He was recognized as Bishop Arthur W. Brooks of Queens. He waited to see the district attorney.

District Attorney Foley was asked today concerning a report that Colonel Lindbergh, when he viewed the prisoner for ten minutes last week, had partially identified Hauptmann as the "masked lookout" who approached him the night the $50,000 ransom was paid.

Foley declined to comment on this, saying it was a matter for the New Jersey authorities to decide.

When the matter was put up to Colonel Schwarzkopf, he said: "This (the reported partial identification) would be a very important point of evidence. Therefore I cannot comment."

It is said the Paid Firemen's Benefit Association may take over all the negotiable paper and pay the paid firemen in cash. The paper draws six per cent interest.

CUBA MOVES TO CRUSH NEW REVOLT

Cabinet Takes Drastic Action

GOVERNMENT FEARS SERIOUS OUTBREAK

International News Service Staff Correspondent
HAVANA, Oct. 1.—Constitutional guarantees were suspended in Havana and Oriente provinces today as the national cabinet, in an emergency meeting, acted in swift determination to crush revolutionary terrorism expected to begin this morning. Practically all transportation was tied up in the capital with truckmen, taxicab drivers, and bus operators striking in protest against higher-priced gasoline and a proposed increase in the vehicle tax. Death for one student, wounds for ten others in a demonstration at Nuevitas, Camaguey province, and injuries for three ushered in the dread October 1—the day set for starting the anti-government campaign.

State Of Alarm
In suspecting constitutional guarantees, the government explained: "A state of alarm of a revolutionary nature exists in Oriente. The government believes that arms have been distributed for an outbreak of major proportions."

Hundreds of American tourists today faced the prospect of walking to their hotels and sight seeing on foot.

The first death came at Nuevitas, Camaguey, when soldiers fired on students demonstrating in commemoration of Rafael Trejo. A student communist leader killed at Havana four years ago. Disorders also occurred at Camaguey City. But no one was hurt.

of his friendship with Miss McKechnie," said McGuigan.
Miss Crain May Not Testify
Although the prosecution has invited Miss Crain to appear as a state witness, it is problematical whether she will appear as she is outside the subpoena jurisdiction of the court.

Twenty-two witnesses have been called by the prosecution. A part of eighty has been called by Judge William Valentine. The prospective jurors include many miners and their wives who have known Edwards and his fiancée since childhood.

The parents of Bobby and Freda are scheduled to be called as witnesses by opposing counsel.
The fathers were both employed by the Kingston Coal company. The elder Edwards was paymaster. McKechnie was five boss.

The Edwards family lived next to the McKechnies. The two families both attended the Bethesda Congregational church at Edwinstown.

CITY MAY BUY SEVERAL CHASSIS

Believe It Would Be More Economical Than To Hire Trucks

During an informal session held by council in Mayor Mayne's office today councilmen discussed the advisability of purchasing chassis and having bodies built rather than renting trucks to be used in connection with RWD projects here this fall and winter. Councilmen expressed the opinion that it would prove more economical and after the RWD work had been completed the city would have a fleet of trucks.

The large item of cost to the city in connection with RWD projects, they stated, was the hire of trucks. Several days ago it was reported that at least $20,000 worth of truck hire would be necessary for trucks used on all of the jobs which the city proposes to have the RWD complete. Engineer Hopkins reported that truck hire would cost $1 an hour or $8 a day for each truck.

Councilman Hoyland pointed out that a chassis could be purchased for approximately $450 or $500. A hydraulic hoist might make a small increase to this cost, he declared. Employees of the RWD, under his plan, would be employed to build the bodies for the trucks.

The other city officials apparently agreed with Hoyland's ideas and Councilman Davies pointed out that when the RWD work had been completed and the city was back in prosperity's lap, the city would have a fleet of trucks which could be used. During the time the trucks were being used by the RWD the latter would pay drivers.

Noted Economists Urge "Sound Money"

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 1.—A warning that currency inflation threatens the United States with economic disaster was coupled today with an appeal for the election of congressional candidates pledged to the cause of "sound money."

The warning and appeal were embodied in a manifesto signed by 53 noted economists who have banded themselves together as the Economists' National Committee on monetary policy. The statement was made public here through Prof. Ernest Minor Patterson of the University of Pennsylvania's Wharton School of Commerce.

The Roosevelt administration's silver purchasing law and devaluation of the dollar, the statement charges, will "weaken and mutilate our currency system" and "inject into it provisions that will constitute an increased danger to this country."

Demand Sound Money

The undersigned members of the Economists' National Committee on monetary policy believe it necessary for the country's welfare that the next congress shall have a majority who, regardless of political party, stand unqualifiedly for a sound money program. Unless such members are elected, we believe that this country may be plunged into an orgy of currency inflation which will we cannot afford, I answer that no country, however rich, can afford the waste of its human resources. . . . I do not want to think that it is the destiny of any American to remain permanently on relief rolls."

Mr. Roosevelt came, near the end of his speech to a few caustic words for those who complained that England and other countries pulled out of the depression by a "do nothing policy." His words, incidentally, carried warm praise for England.

Asks Fair Trial
Dealing with the labor question, Mr. Roosevelt was calling for use of peaceful means for settlement of disputes said:

"There should be at least a full and fair trial given to those means of ending industrial warfare; accordingly, I propose to confer within the coming month with small groups of those truly representative of large employers of labor and of large groups of organized labor, in order to seek their cooperation in establishing what I may describe as a specific trial period of industrial peace."

In addition to all these questions, issues and work, he said, he had a few of what he chose to term general benefits of the recovery program. Near the conclusion of his speech he summed:

"Benefits of the industrial recovery program have come, not only to labor in the form of new jobs, but also to the owners and managers of industry because, together with a great increase in the payrolls, there has come a substantial rise in the total of industrial profits, a rise from a deficit figure in the first quarter of 1933 to a profit of $1,000,000,000 within one year from the inauguration of the NRA."

Back of these doubts, however, was the conviction that NRA benefits have been manifold. Then the executive outlined the recent reorganization of NRA under Donald R. Richberg, and charted the course for the future. He continued:

"We shall watch carefully the workings of this new machinery for the second phase of NRA, modifying it where it needs modification and finally making recommendations to the congress, in order that the functions of NRA which have proved their worth may be made apart of the permanent machinery of the government."

After this there was a defense of the NRA. "Let me call your attention," said the president, "to the fact that the national industrial recovery act gave business men the opportunity they had sought for years to improve business through what has been called self government in industry."

"The codes which have been written have been too complicated, if they have gone too far in such matters as price fixing and limitation of production, let it be remembered that so far as possible, consistent with the immediate public interest of this past year and the vital necessity of improving labor conditions, the representatives of trade and industry were permitted to write their ideas into the codes."

To Review Actions
It is now time to review these actions as a whole to determine through deliberative means in the light of experience, whether the methods and policies adopted in the emergency have been best calculated to promote industrial recovery and a permanent general improvement of business and labor conditions."

Another vigorous defense voiced by the president was for his program of public works, and its close ally, relief, through work as a means of keeping the would-be worker off the relief rolls. He said:

"To those who say that our expenditures . . . are a waste that culminate in disaster and in the improvement of the great mass of our people."

"We agree with the president of the American Federation of Labor that among those who will suffer most are the wage earners. Others who will suffer seriously are those who save and the holders of insurance policies."

Among those who attached their signatures to the document were James W. Angell of Columbia University; Leonard P. When reporters saw District Attorney Foley this morning he told them Hauptmann would not be brought to his office today for further interrogation.

Foley said he was studying the legal aspects of the case preparatory to bringing Hauptmann to trial for extortion.

Leutenant James Finn, the "ace" detective who was promoted for his brilliant work on the Lindbergh case, came to Foley's office with a large package—evidently Finn's files.

No Comment On Identification.
A slight commotion was caused when a man in clerical garb showed up and a photographer snapped his picture. He became annoyed and wanted to know what paper the photographer represented, saying the picture should be destroyed. He was recognized as Bishop Arthur W. Brooks of Queens. He waited to see the district attorney.

District Attorney Foley was asked today concerning a report that Colonel Lindbergh, when he viewed the prisoner for ten minutes last week, had partially identified Hauptmann as the "masked lookout" who approached him the night the $50,000 ransom was paid.

Foley declined to comment on this, saying it was a matter for the New Jersey authorities to discuss.

When the matter was put up to Colonel Schwarzkopf, he said: "This (the reported partial identification) would be a very important point of evidence. Therefore I cannot comment."

CUBA MOVES TO CRUSH NEW REVOLT

Cabinet Takes Drastic Action

GOVERNMENT FEARS SERIOUS OUTBREAK

International News Service Staff Correspondent

HAVANA, Oct. 1.—Constitutional guarantees were suspended in Havana and Oriente provinces today as the national cabinet, in an emergency meeting, acted in swift determination to crush revolutionary terrorism expected to begin this morning.

Practically all transportation was tied up in the capital with truckmen, taxicab drivers, and bus operators striking in protest against higher-priced gasoline and a proposed increase in the vehicular tax.

Death for one student, wounds for ten others in a demonstration at Nuevitas, Camaguey province, and injuries for three ushered in the dread October 1—the day set for starting the anti-government campaign.

State Of Alarm

In suspecting constitutional guarantees, the government explained: "A state of alarm of a revolutionary nature exists in Oriente. The government believes that arms have been distributed for an outbreak of major proportions."

Hundreds of American tourists today faced the prospect of walking to their hotels and sight seeing on foot.

The first death came at Nuevitas, Camaguey, when soldiers fired on students demonstrating in commemoration of Rafael Trejo. A student communist leader killed at Havana four years ago. Disorders also occurred at Camaguey City. But no one was hurt.

of his friendship with Miss McKeechle," said McGuigan.

Miss Crain May Not Testify

Although the prosecution has invited Miss Crain to appear as a state witness, it is problematical whether she will appear as she is outside the subpoena jurisdiction of the court.

Twenty two witnesses have been called by the prosecution. A panel of eighty has been called by Judge William Valentine. The prospective jurors include many miners and their wives who have known Edwards and his fiancée since childhood.

The parents of Bobby and Freda are scheduled to be called as witnesses by opposing counsel.

The fathers were both employed by the Kingston Coal company. The elder Edwards was paymaster. McKeechle was fire boss.

The Edwards family lived next to the McKeechles. The two families both attended the Bethesda Congregational church at Edwardsville.

This case is being labeled the "American tragedy" number trial, for its alleged parallel to incidents in the book by Theodore Dreiser.

CITY MAY BUY SEVERAL CHASSIS

Believe It Would Be More Economical Than To Hire Trucks

During an informal session held by council in Mayor Mayne's office today councilmen discussed the advisability of purchasing chassis and having bodies built rather than renting trucks to be used in connection with RWD projects here this fall and winter. Councilmen expressed the opinion that it would prove more economical and after the RWD work had been completed the city would have a fleet of trucks.

The large item of cost to the city in connection with RWD projects, the stated, was the hire of trucks. Several days ago it was reported that at least $20,000 worth of truck hire would be necessary for trucks used on all of the jobs which the city proposes to have the RWD complete. Engineer Hoskins reported that truck hire would cost $1 an hour or $6 a day for each truck.

Councilman Hoyland pointed out that a chassis could be purchased for approximately $450 or $500. A hydraulic hoist might make a small increase to this cost, he declared. Employees of the RWD, under his plan, would be employed to build the bodies for the trucks.

The other city officials apparently agreed with Hoyland's ideas and Councilman Davies pointed out that when the RWD work had been completed and the city would have a fleet of trucks which could be used.

During the time the trucks were used by the RWD the latter would pay drivers.

Noted Economists Urge "Sound Money"

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 1. — A warning that currency inflation threatens the United States with economic disaster was coupled today with an appeal for the election of congressional candidates pledged to the cause of "sound money."

The warning and appeal were embodied in a manifesto signed by 53 noted economists who have banded themselves together as the Economic National Committee on monetary policy. The statement was made public here through Prof. Ernest Minor Patterson of the University of Pennsylvania's Wharton School of Commerce.

The Roosevelt administration's silver purchasing law and devaluation of the dollar, the statement charged, will "weaken and mutilate our currency system" and "inject into it provisions that will constitute an increased danger to this country until removed."

Demand Sound Money

"The undersigned members of the Economic National Committee on monetary policy believe it necessary for the country's welfare that the next congress shall have a majority, stand unqualifiedly for sound money program. Unless such members are elected, we believe that this country may be plunged into an orgy of currency inflation which will specific accounts of his "serious doubts" for the first time publicly. In it, too, he recounted benefits and in some measure, outlined those things which he now feels may have to be cast aside.

PRESIDENT DEFENDS NEW DEAL POLICIES; SAYS FUTURE BRIGHT

There were five distinct phases in the speech. In each of these there was a vigorous defense of the operations, tactics and objectives of the New Deal. There was, running through it all, a caustic answer to the widespread complaints that the government is poking its nose too deeply into business, industry and the affairs of the people generally.

NRA, which was so recently separated from the rule of Administration by Hugh S. Johnson, came in for vigorous support. At the same time, it was in this big unit that the president found things which seem to him unwise.

Employer and Employee Rapped

Both the employer and the worker got sharp raps on the knuckle when Mr. Roosevelt called for a temporary peace between the ever warring factions. The president charged bluntly that neither has used the machinery set up for settling labor disputes peaceably.

The NRA discussion brought out Mr. Roosevelt's doubts, and was the occasion, too, which the speaker took advantage of to give Hugh Johnson a verbal pat on the back as an able and energetic man.

Airing his doubts, the president said: "There may be a serious question as to the wisdom of many of those devices to control production, or to prevent destructive price cutting which many business organizations have insisted were necessary, or whether effect may have been to prevent that volume of production which would make possible lower prices and increased employment."

"Another serious question arises as to whether in fixing minimum wages on the basis of an hourly or weekly wage we have reached into the heart of the problem which is to provide each annual earnings for the lowest paid worker as will meet his minimum needs."

"We also question the wisdom of extending code requirements suited to the great industrial centers and to large employers, to the great number of small employers in the small communities."

N. R. A. Benefits

Back of these doubts, however, was the expressed conviction that NRA benefits have been manifold. Then the executive outlined the recent reorganization of NRA under Donald R. Richberg, and charted the course for the future. He continued:

"We shall watch carefully the workings of this new machinery for the second phase of NRA, modifying it where it needs modification and finally making recommendations to the congress, in order that the functions of NRA which have proved their worth may be made part of the permanent machinery of the government."

After this, there was a defense of the big setup.

"Let me call your attention," said the president, "to the fact that the national industrial recovery act gave business men the opportunity they had sought for years to improve business through what has been called self government in industry."

"If the codes which have been written have been too complicated, if they have gone too far in such matters as price fixing and limitation of production, let it be remembered that so far as possible, consistent with the immediate public interest of this past year and the vital necessity of improving labor conditions, the representatives of trade and industry were permitted to write their ideas into the codes."

To Review Actions

"It is now time to review these actions as a whole to determine through deliberative means in the light of experience . . . whether the methods and policies adopted in the emergency have been best calculated to promote industrial recovery and a permanent general improvement of business and labor conditions."

Another vigorous defense voiced by the president was for his program of public works, and its close ally, relief, through work as a means of keeping the would-be worker off the relief rolls. He said:

"To those who say that our expenditures . . . are a waste that

why not reason out the cause of this unnatural condition?

Your first thought may be, "I must eat more." That's not all. You should enjoy what you do eat. Frequently, the blood cells are low... and this, perhaps, is what makes you feel weak. If this is your trouble the stomach may not be calling for sufficient food. But what a difference S.S.S. makes when taken just before meals. Just try it, and notice how your appetite and digestion improve. S.S.S. stimulates the flow of gastric juices and also supplies the precious mineral elements so necessary in blood-cell and hemoglobin up-building. Do try it. It may be the rainbow you need to brush away present discouragement over your health condition.

Do not be misled by the efforts of a few unethical dealers who may suggest substitutes. You have a right to insist that S.S.S. be supplied you on its own merits. It is the only medicine of its kind.

Helps PREVENT Colds VICKS VA-TRO-NOL*

Quick! At that first nasal irritation, snuffle or sneeze—just a few drops of Vicks Vapo-Rub. It stimulates the cold-fighting functions of the nose. Used in time, Vapo-Rub aids in preventing many colds.

EACH year, increasing thousands of enthusiastic users broadcast the good news of Vicks Vapo-Rub. They have proved for themselves its amazing effectiveness in helping them to side-step many annoying colds.

This unique aid in preventing colds is especially designed for the nose and throat—where most colds start. Vapo-Rub aids and stimulates the functions provided by Nature—in the nose—to prevent colds, or to throw off colds in the early stages.

Where irritation has led to a clogged-up, stuffy nose (a well developed head cold or nasal catarrh) Vapo-Rub penetrates deep into the nasal passages—reduces swollen membranes—clears away clogging mucus—brings comforting relief.

Powerful yet absolutely safe—for both children and adults—Vicks Vapo-Rub contains real medication. Its results cannot be expected from mere "oil drops." Vapo-Rub's effectiveness has been proved in thousands of clinical tests supervised by practicing physicians. ## If you tire easily—why not reason out the cause of this unnatural condition?

Your first thought may be, "I must eat more." That's not all. Frequently, the blood cells are low... and this, perhaps, is what makes you feel weak. If this is your trouble the stomach may not be calling for sufficient food. Test to eat may be lacking. But what a difference S.S.S. makes when taken just before meals. Just try it and notice how your appetite and digestion improve. S.S.S. stimulates the flow of gastric juices and also supplies the precious mineral elements so necessary in blood-cell and hemo-globin up-building. Do try it. It may be the rainbow you need to brush away present discouragement over your health condition.

Do not be misled by the efforts of a few unethical dealers who may suggest substitutes. You have a right to insist that S.S.S. be supplied you on request. Its long years of preference is your guarantee of satisfaction.

THE INDIVIDUAL'S DUTY ON RELIEF

THE generally accepted principle that it is the duty of local communities to carry the primary burden of relief was emphasized last week at the White House Conference for the Mobilization of Human Needs. This organization includes the Community Chests and the Welfare Federations throughout the country, and the gathering in Washington, headed by Newton D. Baker, was for the purpose of stimulating the various drives soon to be inaugurated in most communities.

The President in his brief address pointed out that it should be regarded as a privilege rather than a duty for the individual American to bear a share in relief. This is indubitably true. Unfortunately the prodigal manner in which the Government has been spending money has had a tendency to check the good impulses of many who formerly contributed to these community chests. The sentiment has come to be, "Let the Government do it. It's spending billions, anyway." Yet it is obvious that State and National Treasuries can not continue forever doing the greater part of the relief work.

Desultion must be relieved. The first help should come from individuals and after that from communities, with State and Nation supplementing their efforts. In the meantime the meeting in Washington is notice that we must not lag in the efforts for our own Community Chest campaign starting today.

REGRETTABLE

Americans generally, we believe, will regret the bickerings that marked the latest America's cup race.

Although yacht racing, because of its costliness and the fact that only a comparatively small part of the public is enabled to view it, lacks the popularity that attaches to many other sports, the contests for the America's cup have come to hold wide and genuine interest among Americans. This is due in no small measure to the good sportsmanship that has, on both sides, featured the contests.

The late Sir John Lipton, who met repeated failure in his efforts to take the trophy back to England, typified almost the ideal in good sportsmanship. It was no secret that in the last races in which he participated a large number of Americans really hoped he would be the victor.

The latest contest was the first in which more than one protest had been heard. Three were registered in two of the races. Thomas O. M. Sopwith, owner of the challenger, appears to have been a little unkind in voicing his disappointment over the rulings of the race committee which held against him. This he attempted to correct later in a statement asserting that "we take home with us to England a very pleasant recollection of the sporting attitude of the American public," and making it clear that any criticism he had was directed only at the race committee.

Americans will hope that his first experience as a contender for the famous "old mug" will not cause abandonment of these contests. They, of course, are pleased with the victory of the American contender, but are fully mindful of the merits of the challenger and of its crew. Mr. Sopwith may have been a little too sensitive in feeling that he was misinterpreted by the race committee, but this will be overlooked, we believe, and he still will be regarded as a man whose good sportsmanship made him a worth contender for the cup.

CHANCE AS DETECTIVE

How often chance plays the leading role in detective work is illustrated in the arrest of the suspected chief figure in the Lindbergh kidnapping and murder.

The nation's best detective minds—federal, state and local—had been at work on the Lindbergh case for more than two years. Practical-minded sleuths had run down innumerable clues. Others had exercised their faculties of deduction on one of the most puzzling crime mysteries in decades. Several suspects had been arrested at one time or another, only to be released for the lack of sufficient evidence to connect them with the kidnapping.

Then came the break, not through what can be properly termed shrewd detective work but in a prosaic manner such as might occur in any case. The taking of the serial number of the gold certificates used by Colonel Lindbergh in paying the $50,000 ransom handed over to the supposed kidnappers was a routine procedure, but, if Hauptmann proves to be the actual kidnaper or if his arrest leads to the final solution of the mystery, it will have proved to be the vital factor in the investigation. It did not offer great promise at first. It soon became a public matter that the serial numbers had been taken, which placed the kidnappers on guard in connection with spending any of the ransom money. Several of the bills, however, eventually were found, but the task of tracing the passers proved an impossible one to the nation's master detective minds.

Then, almost out of a clear sky, came the incident at the New York filling station when Hauptmann paid for gasoline with one of the ransom bills. It is doubtful if the filling station attendant would have taken particular notice of this had it not been that the private possession of gold notes had been made unlawful. His suspicions naturally were aroused, and this caused him to report the incident to the police after writing down the number of the passer's automobile license.

From the police standpoint, luck, rather than shrewd detective work, gave Hauptmann into the hands of the authorities. This, nevertheless, doesn't mean that the federal agents and police who took part in the investigation are not deserving of credit. Much hard work had been done on the case by them. Despite slow and uncertain progress in solving the case, they had refused to give up and remained as vigilant as in the early days of the investigation. This vigilance was an important element in what may prove to be the answer to the question that had puzzled them for more than two years. Chance, nevertheless, seems to have been the nemesis in the case of the German carpenter who now stands charged with the murder of the Lindbergh baby.

WE ARE ALL "PSYCHICS"

I sat in the same room with a "psychic" a man who was said to be able to read into his fellow's minds and know what they are thinking.

I sat there critically, half believing, and wondering if he knew what I was thinking.

Suddenly he turned to me and said that whenever he looked at me he saw the letters M-A-Y written across me, and was somebody in my family born in that month.... I thought quickly. My brother was born in November, my mother in December my sisters and my daughters in the autumn, my wife in June, myself in January. No, he was mistaken. None of my family had been born in May. But he insisted that he couldn't be wrong, and then I remembered that, of course the youngest member of my family, the baby, had been born in May. He was right after all.

But how was he able to be right? How is it possible for any man to look at me or at you and see three letters across his forehead and say they mean a birth in that month? ... Don't ask me to explain, but if you should ask me if I believe this sort of thing is possible I'd reply that I do. We are not as far apart as we sometimes believe. There are powers within us which we do not control or control but vaguely.... This man merely has that power under control, more effectively than the rest of us.

But all of us read each other's minds occasionally. We are all subject to the moods and emotions of those we know. We are all to some extent "psychic."

But would you like to read others' minds and have other individuals read yours? I asked this man if it wasn't a painful experience living that power and he said it was not. He found nothing in the other man's mind to disturb or disgust. He found loneliness and pain and longing, but his power brought him closer to men and women and enriched his life and he believed that some day the power that is in all of us would be more greatly developed than now and we would possess his remarkable gift.... And it is interesting to think that any man who would call himself a "psychic" and any man who lacked that power would be looked upon as an incompletely developed human being.

WHAT HAPPENED TO MIGHTY CASEY

They used to cheer for Casey when he strode up to the plate. To see him leave the clubhouse door admitting throngs would wait. The children sought his autograph; the merchants gave him stuff. To honor Mighty Casey there was nothing good enough.

When Casey had his batting eye all hands for him would clap. The frantic fans went wild with joy to see him tip his cap. On the fatal day in Mudville every man was certain that a hit would be forthcoming soon, with Casey at the bat.

They cheered him to the mountain top; they cheered him to the sky. For no one dreamed that Casey had begun to lose his eye. With the winning run on second, Casey would score beyond a doubt. For no one for a moment thought that Casey would strike out.

What of the mighty Casey? As he left the clubhouse door He found no throng to greet him or to cheer him just once more. And when next day he came to bat the mighty Casey heard From throats which once had cheered him the razzing Bronxville bird.

Now some one hits for Casey when the winning run is on. For that's the way of baseball when the tide of tide is gone. You're a hero while you're hitting and can score the man on third. But strike out like Mighty Casey and you'll get the Bronxville bird. (Copyright, 1934, Edgar A. Guest.)

TAKE CARE OF YOUR REPUTATION

Too many young people get into trouble because the young men want to be "good fellows" and the girls want to be known as "good eggs". They take a chance with their reputations—and lose out.

The girl fellow is the last one to rally to the aid and support of a companion who "gets in wrong". The girl whose reputation has been blackened by some indiscreet act, perhaps without evil intent or real misconduct, will be avoided by former pals.

The tongue of gossip needs little to fabricate its wagging scandal. Young men and women have a right to "sow a few wild oats" and give little thought to what they may reap.

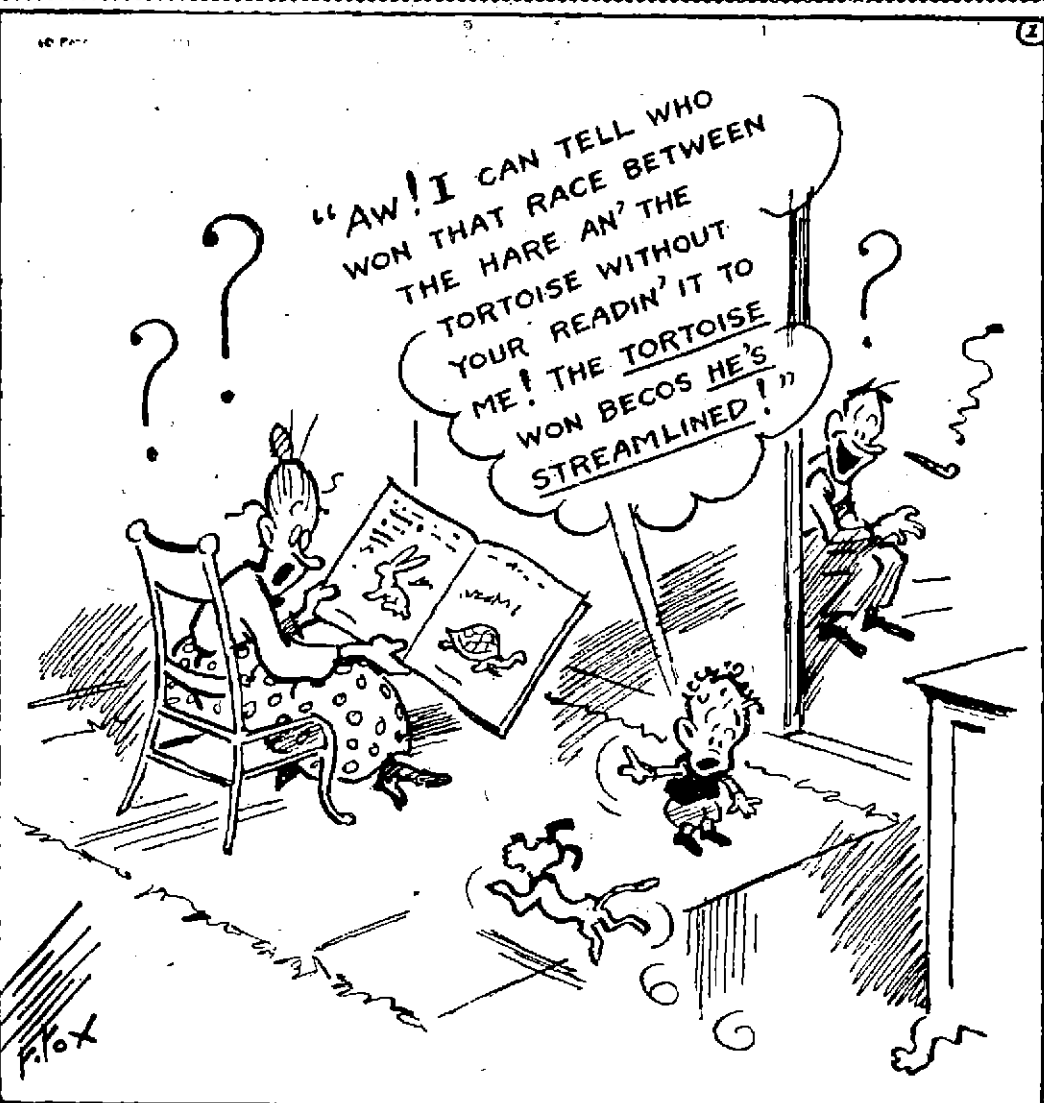

They care little for the interpretation put upon their loose actions. Young people often say, "Well, I know that I did nothing wrong, and I don't care what anyone thinks. So my conscience is clear."

It does make a difference if your reputation is hurt with the community. It is foolish to be so careless of reputation merely to be considered a "good fellow".

It sounds trite but it is true that it does not pay to risk losing a worthwhile reputation.

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—Miss Frances (Robbie) Robinson, administrative assistant to General Hugh Johnson, was not in Washington when President Roosevelt announced acceptance of the general's resignation as chief of the NRA.

Miss Robinson was at the St. Regis hotel, of which Raymond Moley, ex-officio brain trust, is receiver. And at which the general was in a state of collapse. Miss Robinson remained the general's "right hand" even as he passed into retirement.

EXPLANATION
A column run here a few days ago was a bit odd and seemed out of place.

An explanation is due. Columns on the Lindbergh story were switched instead, and finally the column in question, somewhat aged, was used.

The column spoke of concentration camps and how General Johnson was out of the pale and how the settling of the textile strike would be credited to Madam Secretary Perkins.

I apologize for not supplying the editor with another column. But, since all that the column had spoken of did come to pass, we begin to suspect that our news and policy sources are fairly reliable.

SPEEDING RAILROADS
With the passing of daylight saving time, on September 30, railroads between New York and Chicago once more speed up the schedules of the average non-extra fare trains.

In view of the criticisms of the railroads that they do not keep up to date, they are eager to prove that the criticisms are a calumny against a much-abused industry.

NEW STYLE
The new English super-liner, Queen Mary, will present something entirely different in ships.

It will be on the "hotel plan". That is, one will pay so much for room and buy his meals in any one of seven types of restaurants—to suit the purse.

There will be no classes.

BRITISH
The British, "most democratic of peoples", are presenting a strong contrast now.

Royalty is held virtually sacred. The nation gladsly pays for the upkeep of the royal family.

Prince George, who receives a stipend of $50,000 a year, will receive more because he is to marry.

Prince George's allowance is among the least.

A LETTER
Many letters are pouring into this column.

One of the most interesting comes from John W. Harvey, Jr., of the Harvey Auto company, Manistee, Mich.

Says Mr. Harvey: "Just recently you wrote that we could easily eliminate the Reds in this country by merely getting down to fundamentals with our recovery program. The only drawback to this suggestion is the fact that once we get down to fundamentals we become Reds ourselves."

"Your column is unusually sane, fair-minded, and intelligent—always remembering that such a judgment of your output is on a comparative basis. Most newspaper commentators on the political and economic problems of today are stupidly reactionary or hopelessly conservative. You are refreshingly liberal. Liberalism, however, has already demonstrated its very obvious futility.

"Can you explain, even to your own satisfaction, just how recovery can be accomplished without first bringing about genuine industrial democracy? And how industrial democracy can be effected without the revolutionary upset of numerous industrial anarchists (commonly known as sturdy individualists) who mismanage our present social order through their hand-picked political puppets and privately owned press?"

Answer: According to the best views obtainable from men who are trying to maintain a judicial, liberal attitude, a "genuine industrial democracy" will have to be achieved. The means of achieving it, however, are in dispute, perhaps largely because change or evolution has caught us all unprepared. That is, no program seems comprehensive or definite enough. Critics of the Roosevelt administration assert it has only vague, indefinite plans on some of the most important phases and that this merely adds to the uncertainty and the instability. Upholders of the New Deal, however, ask: "Where should we be without it?"

MONDAY, OCT. 1

The World War Day-By-Day, Oct. 1, 1914.—For some reason or another, the U. S. signed a treaty of peace and arbitration with Russia. The same gentleman who agreed for Russia in making the agreement had sent the czar's soldiers to war in contravention of treaties of peace with other powers.

Same day, peace-loving William Jennings Bryan, the secretary of state, acceded to British demand that American neutrality laws be invoked against U. S. concerns which were re-shipping goods consigned ostensibly to Holland into Germany. The practice was enabling American exporters to slip cargoes past Allied cruisers.

No neutrality laws were invoked, of course, against U. S. concerns selling munitions directly to Britain and her allies. J. P. Morgan & Co. had become merchant of death for the British government and was placing huge orders for 47-inch shells, nitro-cellulose powder and such. As sole agent for Britain, J. P. Morgan & Co. received 1 per cent commission on all purchases the government made in this country. The agreement was to have as much as anything to do with dragging the U. S. into the war.

C. Coates, at this time the suggestion that the U. S. would become engaged in the war is regarded as ridiculous.

Back in 1908, the half-American, naturally conclusion-jumping Winston Leonard Spencer Churchill, then 34 and president of the Board of Trade, ridiculed the bare possibility of an Anglo-German conflict in arms. He showed his sunny temper in rebuking Lord Cromer for uttering grave words of warning, and assisted Lloyd-George in the effort to cut down the appropriations for the navy.

Now Mr. Churchill was first lord of admiralty, and now he had more foresight than the generals and admirals who had foreseen in 1906 that a war with Germany was inevitable. For a month Mr. Churchill had been trying to persuade the generals and admirals that Britain must occupy Belgium's ports to prevent them from falling into German hands.

At last, with Krupp and Skodas growing deaf at Antwerp's defenders, the generals and admirals awakened and gave belated recognition to Churchill's strategic insight. He was allowed to send a brigade of marines and two newly formed brigades of sailors to reinforce the defenders, while the 7th infantry division and 3rd cavalry division were sent under Maj. Gen. Henry Seymour Robinson, 54, to land at Ostend and Zebruges and move overland to engage the besiegers.

History Up-to-Date—Oct. 1, 331 B. C.—25-year-old Alexander III of Macedon, called the Great, won a battle that brought him the equivalent of $50,000,000 in gold and 35,000 mule-loads of jewels and art treasures.

It was the battle of Arbela, in Asia Minor, his third and decisive conflict with King Darius Codomannus and the Persian army of 1,000,000. Alexander won the 950,000 foot-soldiers and 50,000 cavalrymen from the east, with 40,000 foot-soldiers, 7,000 cavalrymen and a lunar eclipse, was had propagandists spread the word through the Persians that the eclipse was an omen of the wrath of the gods.

Oct. 1, 1781—James Lawrence was born in Burlington, N. J., destined to become a naval hero. He was 32 when he commanded the frigate Chesapeake in its celebrated battle with the British Shannon, and cried, "Don't give up the ship," as he lay, mortally wounded, on the deck.

When it was proposed that posthumous honors be voted Capt. Lawrence, the Massachusetts legislature refused! Instead, the senate voted a resolution:

WE ARE ALL "PSYCHICS"

I sat in the same room with a "psychic" a man who was said to be able to read into his fellow's minds and know what they are thinking.

I sat there critically, half believing, and wondering if he knew what I was thinking. Suddenly he turned to me and said that whenever he looked at me he saw the letters M-A-Y written across me, and was somebody in my family born in that month. . . . I thought quickly. My brother was born in November, my mother in December my sisters and my daughters in the autumn, my wife in June, myself in January. No, he was mistaken. None of my family had been born in May. But he insisted that he couldn't be wrong, and then I remembered that of course the youngest member of my family, the baby, had been born in May. He was right after all.

But how was he able to be right? How is it possible for any man to look at me or at you and see three letters across his forehead and say they mean a birth in that month? . . . Don't ask me to explain, but if you should ask me if I believe in this sort of thing is possible I'd reply that I do. . . . We are not as far apart as we sometimes believe. There are powers within us which we do not control or control but vaguely. . . . This man merely has that power, under control, more effectively than the rest of us.

But all of us read each other's minds occasionally. We are all subject to the moods and emotions of those we know. We are all to some extent "psychic."

But would you like to read others' minds and have other individuals read yours? I asked this man if it wasn't a painful experience living that power and he said it was not. He found nothing in the other man's mind to terrify or disgust. He found loneliness and pain and longing, but his power brought him closer to men and women and enriched his life and he believed that some day the power that is in all of us would be more greatly developed than now and we would possess his remarkable gift. . . . And in that time we would all be "psychics" and any man who lacked that power would be looked upon as an incompletely developed human being.

WHAT HAPPENED TO MIGHTY CASEY

They used to cheer for Casey when he strode up to the plate. To see him leave the club house door admiring throngs would wait. The children sought his autograph; the merchants gave him stuff. To honor Mighty Casey there was nothing good enough.

When Casey had his batting eye all hands for him would clap. The frantic fans went wild with joy to see him tip his cap. On that fateful day in Mudville every man was certain that A hit would be forthcoming soon, with Casey at the bat.

They cheered him to the mountain top; they cheered him to the sky. For no one dreamed that Casey had begun to lose his eye. With the winning run on second, Blake would score beyond a doubt. For no one for a moment thought that Casey would strike out.

What of the mighty Casey? As he left the club house door He found no throng to greet him or cheer him just once more. And when next day he came to bat the mighty Casey heard From throats which once had cheered him the razzing Bronxville bird.

Now some one hits for Casey when the winning run is on. For that's the way of baseball when the hero's eye is gone. You're a hero while you're hitting and can score the man on third. But strike out like Mighty Casey and you'll get the Bronxville bird. (Copyright, 1934, Edgar A. Guest.)

TAKE CARE OF YOUR REPUTATION

Too many young people get into trouble because the young men want to be "good fellows" and the girls want to be known as "good eggs".

They take a chance with their reputations—and lose out. The hall fellow is the last one to rally to the aid and support of a companion who "gets in wrong".

The girl whose reputation has been blackened by some indiscreet act, perhaps without evil intent or real misconduct, will be avoided by former pals.

The tongue of gossip needs little to lubricate its wagging scandal. Young men feel they have a right to "sow a few wild oats" and give little thought to what they may reap.

They care little for the interpretation put upon their loose actions. Young people often say, "Well, I know that I did nothing wrong and I don't care what anyone thinks, so my conscience is clear."

This is dangerous philosophy. It does make a difference if your reputation is hurt with the community.

It is foolish to be so careless of reputation merely to be considered a "good fellow".

It sounds trite but it is true that it does not pay to risk losing a worthwhile reputation.

According to latest reports, there are more women under arms in Russia than any other country in the world, except the United States on Sunday night.

Post office employees in Pittsburgh are being asked for campaign funds by the Democrats. It is charged. Well, the Dems ought to know who's making the money, and also who is spending it.

Young bucks these days find that in order to put a dent in a girl's heart, you've got to put a dent in the bankroll, too.

Blinkus had to leave town because he made a mistake in his accounts. You mean at the office? No, in his accounts of his wife as to where he had been the night before.

A general strike won't help. What the world needs is a strike of generals.

He—I'm groping for words. She—Well, you don't expect to find them around my knees, do you?

A Columbia professor says there is no life after death. Which means simply that a Columbia professor is talking again with his mouth full of mush. He doesn't know any more about it than the rest of us.

There's one fellow who has felt little change in his business during the depression, and that is the pickpocket.

The dispatches tell of a young Buda-Pest printer who walked out on the world by swallowing 30 pieces of type which spelled the name of his sweetheart. Instead of engraving it on his heart, he chucked it into his stomach. Just like a man—no sentiment!

It is claimed for a new serum that it makes the timid brave, probably a double distillation of some bootlegger's Dutch courage that could make one of the three little pigs thumb its nose at the big, bad wolf.

THE OTHER KIND The little man was ushered to the witness stand. After the usual preliminaries the judge told him to tell the court what had occurred. The man began a rambling narrative and finally ended up with: "And then my wife hit me on the head with an oak leaf."

"Well, surely that couldn't have hurt you," said the judge. "Oh, couldn't it," replied the witness, with feeling. "It was an oak leaf from the center of the dining room table."

An economist says that several industries will benefit when women wear their dresses an inch or two longer, but not the hosery or garter makers.

Health Notes Open sores and cuts are germ catchers. Correct living is the secret of good health. Healthy teeth are more important than white teeth. Cough and sneeze away from the rest of the company. Intemperate gum-chewing may dry up the salivary glands. Soap and water are good disinfectants for ordinary purposes. Nerve sedatives used to excess finally produce "shattered" nerves. Severe paroxysms of coughing are likely to strain the heart muscles. If you would have a fair skin wash out the dirt, not merely wash it off. Breathe through your nose when the wind fills the air with street dust. Ailments seldom become chronic if given proper attention in the beginning. The time for effective cure of most diseases is when they first manifest themselves. The hair brush should be kept as clean as the tooth brush if the scalp is to remain healthy.

"Cheap as dirt" is no longer a good synonym. Look what the radio people pay for using popular songs.

M-M! YES AND NO "There is a direct and indirect taxation. Give me an example of indirect taxation." "The dog tax, sir." "How is that?" "The dog does not have to pay it."

Americanism: Ditching a ball player the moment he fails to make good; keeping a public servant who makes a mess of things.

FOUND THAT OUT FOR HIMSELF "You were crazy to marry me," she bitterly remarked after upbraiding him for the way he was neglecting her. "You telling me!" he growled angrily.

As a last resort the government might fix up a code for bandits and ruin all but a few big ones.

Rugged Individualism sounds good, but it isn't the kind of sound that interests an empty stomach.

OH, DOCTOR! Blinks—So you thought you'd get a big kick out of riding a mule while out on the farm, eh? Did you? Jinks—No, but I got a whale of a one from the mule.

You'll notice that crowds never smash news cameras that would show them doing something noble.

What we can't understand is why liberals of the people need so much guarding when they step outdoors.

When you see a man who is a quitter, you are likely to see one who was never much of a beginner in the first place.

A wife is a great comfort during all those troubles which a bachelor never has.

ABOUT THE SAME Blinks—Have you ever seen a prize fight? Hinks—No, never, but I once looked in on one of my wife's bridge parties.

The play with the swiftest action is the creepy one.

A LETTER

Many letters are pouring into this column.

One of the most interesting comes from John W. Harvey, Jr., of the Harvey Auto company, Manistee, Mich.

Says Mr. Harvey: "Just recently you wrote that we could easily eliminate the Reds in this country by merely getting down to fundamentals with our recovery program. The only drawback to this suggestion is the fact that once we get down to fundamentals we become Reds ourselves."

"You colored, and intelligent—always remembering that such a judgment of your output is on a comparative basis. Most newspaper commentators on the political and economic problems of today are stupidly re-

trying to persuade the generals and admirals that Britain must occupy Belgium's ports to prevent them from falling into German hands.

At last, with Krupp and Skodas growing death at Antwerp's defenders, the generals and admirals awakened and gave belated recognition to Churchill's strategic insight. He was allowed to send a brigade of marines and two new formed brigades of sailors to reinforce the defenders, while the 7th infantry division and 3rd cavalry division were sent under Maj. Gen. Henry Seymour Rawlinson, 54, to land at Ostend and Zeebrugge and move overland to engage the besiegers.

History Up-to-Date—Oct. 1. 331 B. C.—25-year-old Alexander III of Macedon, called the Great, won a battle that brought him the equivalent of $150,000,000 in gold and 25,000 mule-loads of jewels and art treasures.

It was the battle of Arabeia, in Asia Minor, his third and decisive conflict with King Darius Cado-manus and the Persian army of 1,000,000. Alexander beat the 950,000 foot-soldiers and 50,000 cavalrymen from the east, with 40,000 foot-soldiers, 7,000 cavalrymen and a lunar eclipse. He had propagandists spread the word through the Persians that the eclipse was an omen of the wrath of the gods.

Oct. 1, 1781—James Lawrence was born in Burlington, N. J., destined to become a naval hero. He was 32 when he commanded the frigate Chesapeake in its celebrated battle with the British Shannon, and cried, "Don't give up the ship" as he lay, mortally wounded, on the deck.

THE WORLD WAR DAY-BY-DAY, Oct. 1, 1914.—For some reason or another the U. S. signed a treaty of peace and arbitration with Russia.

At last, with Krupp and Skodas growing deathly anxious of detours, the generals and admirals awakened and gave belated recognition to Churchill's strategic insight.

He was allowed to send a brigade of marines and two newly formed brigades of sailors to reinforce the defenders, while the 7th infantry division and 3rd cavalry division were sent under Maj. Gen. actionary or hopelessly conservative. You are refreshingly liberal. Liberalism, however, has already demonstrated its very obvious fault.

"Can you explain, even to your own satisfaction, just how recovery can be accomplished without first bringing about a genuine industrial democracy? And how industrial democracy can be effected without the revolutionary upset of numerous industrial anarchists, commonly known as sturdy individualists who manage our present social order through their hand-picked political puppets and privately owned press?"

Answer: According to the best views obtainable from men who are trying to maintain a judicial, impartial attitude, a genuine industrial democracy will have to be achieved. The means of achieving it, however, are in dispute, perhaps largely because change or evolution has caught us all unprepared. That is, no program seems comprehensive or definite enough. Critics of the Roosevelt administration assert it has only vague, indefinite plans on some of the most important phases and that this adds to the uncertainty and the instability. Upholders of the New Deal, however, ask: "Where should we be without it?"

THE INDIVIDUAL'S DUTY ON RELIEF

THE generally accepted principle that it is the duty of local communities to carry the primary burden of relief was emphasized last week at the White House Conference for the Mobilization of Human Needs. This organization includes the Community Chests and the Welfare Federations throughout the country, and the gathering in Washington, headed by Newton D. Baker, was for the purpose of stimulating the various drives soon to be inaugurated in most communities.

The President in his brief address pointed out that it should be regarded as a privilege rather than a duty for the individual American to bear a share in relief. This is indubitably true. Unfortunately the prodigal manner in which the Government has been spending money has had a tendency to check the good impulses of many who formerly contributed to these community chests. The sentiment has come to be, "Let the Government do it. It's spending billions, anyway." Yet it is obvious that State and National Treasuries can not continue forever doing the greater part of the relief work.

Destitution must be relieved. The first help should come from individuals and after that from communities, with State and Nation supplementing their efforts. In the meantime the meeting in Washington is notice that we must not lag in the efforts for our own Community Chest campaign starting today.

REGRETTABLE

Americans generally, we believe, will regret the bickerings that marked the latest America's cup race.

Although yacht racing, because of its costliness and the fact that only a comparatively small part of the public is enabled to view it, lacks the popularity that attaches to many other sports, the contests for the America's cup have come to hold wide and genuine interest among Americans. This is due in no small measure to the good sportsmanship that has, on both sides, featured the contests.

The late Sir John Lipton, who met repeated failure in his efforts to take the trophy back to England, typified almost the ideal in good sportsmanship. It was no secret that in the last races in which he participated a large number of Americans really hoped he would be the victor.

The latest contest was the first in which more than one protest had been heard. Three were registered in two of the races. Thomas O. M. Sopwith, owner of the challenger, appears to have been a little untactful in voicing his disappointment over the rulings of the race committee which held against him. This he attempted to correct later in a statement asserting that "we take home with us to England a very pleasant recollection of the sporting attitude of the American public," and making it clear that any criticism he had was directed only at the race committee.

Americans will hope that his first experience as a contender for the famous "old mug" will not cause abandonment of these contests. They, of course, are pleased with the victory of the American contender but are fully mindful of the merits of the challenger and of its crew. Mr. Sopwith may have been a little too sensitive in feeling that he was mistreated by the race committee, but this will be overlooked, we believe, and he still will be regarded as a man whose good sportsmanship made him a worth contender for the cup.

CHANCE AS DETECTIVE

How often chance plays the leading role in detective work is illustrated in the arrest of the suspected chief figure in the Lindbergh kidnapping and murder.

The nation's best detective minds—federal, state and local—had been at work on the Lindbergh case for more than two years. Practical-minded sleuths had run down innumerable clues. Others had exercised their faculties of deduction on one of the most puzzling crime mysteries in decades. Several suspects had been arrested at one time or another only to be released for the lack of sufficient evidence to connect them with the kidnapping.

Then came the break, not through what can be properly termed shrewd detective work but in a prosaic manner such as might occur in any case. The taking of the serial number of the gold certificates used by Colonel Lindbergh in paying the $50,000 ransom handed over to the supposed kidnapers was a routine procedure, but, if Hauptmann proves to be the actual kidnaper or if his arrest leads to the final solution of the mystery, it will have proved to be the vital factor in the investigation. It did not offer great promise at first. It soon became a public matter that the serial numbers had been taken, which placed the kidnapers on guard in connection with spending any of the ransom money. Several of the bills however, eventually were found, but the task of tracing the passers proved an impossible one to the nation's master detective minds.

Then, almost out of a clear sky, came the incident at the New York filling station when Hauptmann paid for gasoline with one of the ransom bills. It is doubtful if the filling station attendant would have taken particular notice of this had it not been that the private possession of gold notes had been made unlawful. His suspicions naturally were aroused, and this caused him to report the incident to the police after writing down the number of the passer's automobile license.

From the police standpoint, luck, rather than shrewd detective work, gave Hauptmann into the hands of the authorities. This, nevertheless, doesn't mean that the federal agents and police who took part in the investigation are not deserving of credit. Much hard work had been done on the case by them. Despite slow and uncertain progress in solving the case, they had refused to give up and remained as vigilant as in the early days of the investigation. This vigilance was an important element in what may prove to be the answer to the question that had puzzled them for more than two years. Chance, nevertheless, seems to have been the nemesis in the case of the German carpenter who now stands charged with the murder of the Lindbergh baby.

MONDAY, OCT. 1

The World War Day-By-Day, Oct. 1, 1914.—For some reason or another the U. S. signed a treaty of peace and arbitration with Russia.

At last, with Krupp and Skodas growing deathly anxious of detours, the generals and admirals awakened and gave belated recognition to Churchill's strategic insight.

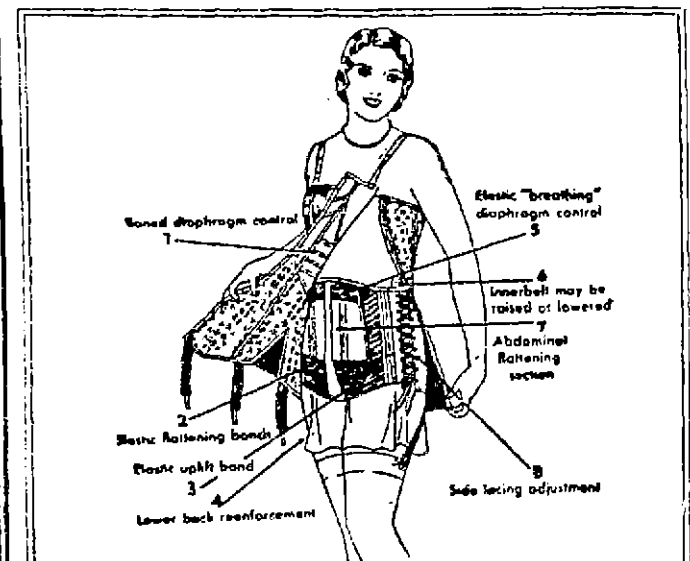

He was allowed to send a brigade of marines and two newly formed brigades of sailors to reinforce the defenders, while the 7th infantry division and 3rd cavalry division were sent under Maj. Gen. Henry Seymour Rawlinson, 54, to land at Ostend and Zeebrugge and move overland to engage the besiegers.

History Up-to-Date—Oct. 1, 331 B. C.—25-year-old Alexander III of Macedonia, called the Great, won a battle that brought him the equivalent of $1,000,000 in gold and 25,000 mule-loads of jewels and art treasures.

It was the battle of Arbela. In Asia Minor, his third and decisive conflict with King Darius Codomannus and the Persian army of 1, Skilled professional services, able funeral direction, proper equipment and trained assistants each contribute as much toward satisfactory funeral service as does the casket.

Consequently Book-Leyde Funeral Service never offers just a casket. The prices which are all plainly marked in our display room are for the complete funeral service—Book-Leyde Service.

You are invited to call and obtain any information you desire about funeral service and its cost. You will incur no obligation.

NE-CA-HI BAND TO PLAY AT STATION

New Castle will see a thrilling scene when the special train bearing an army of Johnstown high school rooters pulls into the Pennsylvania depot here on Saturday, October 6 between 1 and 1:30, just before the New Castle and Johnstown football teams go to battle in Taggart stadium before what "Johnstown Goodwill Day" backers hope will be the largest stand of spectators ever to attend a local game.

General chairman, Ralph W. Bolinger announced today that Johnstown has notified him that the special would reach here somewhere around 1 o'clock.

Waiting at the depot will be chartered buses ready to whisk the Johnstown gridders to Taggart Field where they will remain until game time.

Marshall music, to be played by the Senior High band will fill the air as the train moves in. On the football train, prepared to join the local musicians will be the 85 piece band which the Johnstown school is bringing. Together they will parade through the city.

Bolinger said that final plans for greeting the visitors were made at a conference to be held with Don West, faculty manager of Johnstown athletes, and Joe Heyrick, Johnstown coach during the New Castle-Charlottesville game last Friday.

From four p. m. to eight a. m. Sunday, city policemen in cruiser cars answered 20 police broadcasts from headquarters. Every time a broadcast is sent out by the desk sergeants it is recorded on a report carried in each of the cruiser cars.

Walter Braham.

At 6:30 o'clock in the ballroom of The Castleton, Colonel L. B. Round's downtown sales armies and Colonel Mrs. Robert A. Eckles' women crusaders will assemble at their "Over the Top" dinner meeting, at which final instructions will be given their groups by their respective officers and every worker in the City Wide Sales Force will select the actual prospect cards upon whom they will begin their canvass the next day," said Chairman Braham.

Others Will Attend

County division: W. O. Pitts, Chairman; A. E. Conners, R. C. McCaslin, William R. Hanna, R. M. Campbell, Edw. D. Pritchard, Mont L. Alley, Winifred James and M. B. Hogue.

The schools will be represented by Dr. C. C. Green and Mrs. Sara Sankey McCaslin.

The employee division with W. Keith McAfee, chairman; R. W. Rowland, and R. W. Bolsinger, Vice-Chairmen, and the following committee: T. E. Chambers, Robert A. Eckles, J. B. Foster, Jess Gibson, A. H. Gonic, B. H. Kanneberg, Joel S. McKee, and C. J. Shannon.

"Those four committees, representing, with their plant and firm captains in the employee division, and captains in the school division, a total of over 800 volunteers, have been working for the past two weeks on the advanced phase of the campaign," Mr. Braham continued.

Advanced Work Fruitful
Mr. Braham continued: "The Advanced Gifts division under Chairman Hartman and his committee of 30, are meeting with very favorable response, and the work of the employee division under chairman, W. Keith McAfee, in spite of unsettled conditions bids fair to surpass that of last year. While at this stage of the campaign no reports will be published, it is, however, fitting and just to say that the first employee co-operating firm to have sent in its report is that of the employees of the W. J. Offutt company, who with Captain DeLace Cole in charge, reports all his 11 employees approximated over two days pay to the Community Chest. The W. J. Offutt and Company employees, then, is the first 100% firm to come in before the actual reporting that takes place at tomorrow's first report luncheon."

Both Mrs. Robert A. Eckles and L. B. Round, colonels, respectively, of the city-wide sales force report that their two divisions are 100% strong and will all be at the "kick-off" dinner tonight ready to start the last phase of the campaign which closes Friday night, October 5th," concluded Mr. Braham.

NO. 7—The RED CROSS

Tonight, at The Castleton, the Community Chest solicitation opens, and, as the campaign machinery goes into motion, it's well for all New Castle citizens to think of the work the Red Cross chapter here performs.

Here's a human interest story drawn out of the daily records of its work:
"Happiness was turned to grief in the L... family recently, when after a few moments' illness, Mr. L... died, leaving a widow and five children. The children ranged from two to 14 years of age. The man had been working part time as a laborer and, over the past year, had accumulated debts. At the time of his death the wife and mother was confined to bed. Two months later a new baby was born. Life insurance carried by the father, had been cancelled. Fortunately, the father had served honorably in the World War. The local Red Cross learned of his death. After payment of all benefits due the widow from the federal government, it was found that the debts were paid but nothing remained to assist the family on even a temporary basis. The mother, ill in bed, was cared for by the chapter nurse. Arrangements were made to help them through the Red Cross and the Veterans' welfare fund for food gave a temporary aid. The mother's name was given to the Mother's Assistance Fund, but, due to lack of funds, it was several months before she received her first pension check. The family, while grieved over the loss of the father, was kept intact and cared for like many others, by the Red Cross."

Tonight the 1934 Chest opens—pledge to it!

The marriage license docket shows that 493 licenses were granted during September. This compares with 220 in August, and 181 in September of 1933.

County Commissioners have been giving bridges the once over before cold weather sets in. Particular attention is paid to keeping the channels clear of driftwood and other obstructions underneath the bridges.

Two of the cases which have been appealed from Lawrence county will be argued in Pittsburgh this week and one in Philadelphia. The Ray Matlock case goes to Philadelphia superior court for the reason that the Superior court does not meet in Pittsburgh until next spring and an appeal in a criminal case must be brought before the first sitting of the Superior Court after the appeal. The case grows out of the alleged embezzlement of funds of the Ellwood City school board. The District Attorney Mont L. Alley will be accompanied to Philadelphia by John Powers, who was district attorney when the case was started and is familiar with it. Attorney Clarence Patterson represents Matlocks.

Two Federal farm loans, one in Slippery Rock and one in Perry township, were closed during the past week according to Attorney W. W. Stevenson. There are a number of applications pending. The greatest number of applications are always made between now and Spring according to Stevenson.

Motion to make a rule absolute was granted by the court in the case of Joel Henry Hendrix against The Metropolitan Life Insurance Company. The petition upon which the rule was granted was for an amendment to the statement of claim. The case grew out of a controversy over a health insurance policy.

Arguments were heard by court Saturday on a petition for judgment for want of a sufficient affidavit of defense in the case of E. E. Russell against J. W. Gunning and others. The case is one involving a $5000 mortgage owned by Russell.

Petition to stay an execution was presented to court in the case of The State Capital Savings and Loan Association against Anthony and Wanda Oltowski. Petitioners claim that they own a house in the eighth ward which cost $6400 and is now reasonably worth $4500. In January 1931, the State Capital loaned $2,550 on the property. Taxes are back three years. Judgement has been entered against it for $2,840.87. Petitioner claim that they have applied for a Home Owners Loan Corporation mortgage but the plaintiff refuses to accept bonds. They claim that if the property is sold by the sheriff now it will work a great hardship as it is reasonably worth much more than the mortgage. They ask the court to stay the execution to give further opportunity to raise the money. A rule on the plaintiff to show cause why the petition should not be granted was issued, rule returnable October 15.

County Commissioners are receiving inquiries as to the eligibility of voters who have moved, to register and vote at the November election. According to the election laws it is found that an elector to be eligible to vote, must have resided in the district in which he now lives sixty days from November 6th. This applies with equal force to a man who has simply moved from one precinct to another in the same ward or one who has moved from one ward to another, or from one county into another in this state.

NO. 7—The RED CROSS
Tonight, at The Castleton, the Community Chest solicitation opens, and, as the campaign machinery goes into motion, it's well for all New Castle citizens to think of the work the Red Cross chapter here performs.

Here's a human interest story drawn out of the daily records of its work:

"Happiness was turned to grief in the L... family recently, when after a few moment's illness, Mr. L... died, leaving a widow and five children. The children ranged from two to 14 years of age. The man had been working part time as a laborer and, over the past year, had accumulated debts. At the time of his death the wife and mother was confined to bed. Two months later a new baby was born. Life insurance carried by the father, had been cancelled. Fortunately, the father had served honorably in the World War. The local Red Cross learned of his death. After payment of all benefits due the widow from the federal government, it was found that the debts were paid but nothing remained to assist the family on even a temporary basis. The mother, ill in bed, was cared for by the chapter nurse. Arrangements were made to help them through the Red Cross, and the Veterans' welfare fund for food gave a temporary aid. The mother's name was given to the Mother's Assistance Fund, but, due to lack of funds, it was several months before she received her first pension check. The family, while grieved over the loss of the father, was kept intact and cared for, like many others, by the Red Cross."

Tonight the 1934 Chest opens—pledge to it!

Aromatic Turkish tobaccos

Next we add just the right kinds and the right amounts of Turkish tobaccos to give Chesterfield the "seasoning" that helps to make them taste better.

Blended and cross-blended

Finally we "weld" these tobaccos together the Chesterfield way—different from any other—to make Chesterfield a milder better-tasting cigarette.

Two of the cases which have been appealed from Lawrence county will be argued in Pittsburgh this week and one in Philadelphia. The Ray Mattocks case goes to Philadelphia superior court for the reason that the Superior court does not meet in Pittsburgh until next spring and an appeal in a criminal case must be brought before the first sitting of the Superior Court after the appeal. The case grows out of the alleged embezzlement of funds of the Ellwood City school board. The District Attorney Mont L. Judgement has been entered against it for $2,840.87. Petitioner claim that they have applied for a Home Owners Loan Corporation mortgage but the plaintiff refuses to accept bonds. They claim that if the property is sold by the sheriff now it will work a great hardship as it is reasonably worth much more than the mortgage. They ask the court to stay the execution to give further opportunity to raise the money. A rule on the plaintiff to show cause why the petition should not be granted was issued, rule returnable October 15.

This applies with equal force to a man who has simply moved from one precinct to another in the same ward or one who has moved from one ward to another, or from one county into another in this state.

REPORT NEW EVIDENCE IN HAUPTMANN CASE

Will Clear Way For Extradition

ACCOMPLICES ARE NOW BEING SOUGHT

(International News Service) NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—New Jersey officials moved swiftly today to add the final links to the chain of sequences in the Lindbergh kidnapping case, which reached a climax with the arrest here of Bruno Richard Hauptmann, Bronx carpenter.

According to reliable information received by International News Service, proof "definite and irrefutable" that Hauptmann was in the vicinity of the Lindbergh home in Hopewell, N. J., the day the noted aviator's son was stolen from his crib, will be accepted by New Jersey authorities today.

This evidence, if it is forthcoming, will clear away the last barrier to the prompt extradition and trial of Hauptmann on a first degree murder charge.

New Evidence

According to Assistant Attorney General Joseph Lannigan, the new evidence assures the Jersey authorities of an "airtight" case against Hauptmann.

When questioned, Lannigan declined to divulge the nature of the new discovery, other than to say it was unearthed in New Jersey, indicating that New Jersey police played a lone hand in some phases of the investigation. New York authorities professed to be in ignorance of any impending development of importance.

Department of Justice agents, however, made cryptic statements which led to the conclusion they were aware of the happenings in New Jersey.

They declared last night that developments of the preceding 48 hours had taken the case "completely out of the circumstantial category."

The government officers followed this with the statement they were searching for accomplices, although Lannigan, who has become one of the leading figures in the probe, professed to know nothing of the identification of anyone except Hauptmann.

Two Possibilities

Two possibilities presented themselves in connection with the new evidence promised by Lannigan.

One was that witnesses have been located who saw Hauptmann in Hopewell near the Lindbergh mansion. The other was that police have discovered the house in which it is now believed Hauptmann intended to hold the child a prisoner pending the outcome of ransom negotiations.

Lannigan definitely declared that the kidnaper never intended to murder the child immediately. He said that investigators never held that theory and that all evidence indicated that the child was accidentally killed. But because the flyer's son died in the commission of a crime the kidnappers are murderers in the eyes of the law.

The assistant attorney general hinted that some authorities now feel that more than one person was involved in the case after the Lindbergh's first-born was snatched from his nursery bed.

Meanwhile Department of Justice agents announced that five of the ransom bills have been put into circulation since the Bronx carpenter's arrest.

And still further corroboration was found in reports that mystery witnesses in the Bronx had given the authorities names and addresses of persons they believe were Hauptmann's confederates in the case. At least one woman has been in constant touch with District Attorney Samuel Foley and his aides, and Foley did not deny that she was a key witness.

It was reported that Col. Lindbergh himself had given positive proof that more than Hauptmann were implicated in the abduction and killing of his child. Those reports were based on announcement that Lindbergh had indicated the Bronx carpenter was one of those involved in the collection of the ransom money.

This was denied by Lannigan, however.

Union Township Property Owners To Have Meeting

Meeting Called For Union High Building At 8 O'clock Wednesday Evening

All property owners in the No. 2 sewer district of Union township are asked to attend the important meeting to be held at the Union high building at 8 o'clock Wednesday evening.

The residents of this district have been trying for a number of years to obtain a sanitary sewer system. The No. 2 sewer district includes all property directly west of the Youngstown road.

The No. 2 Union township sewer district takes in the following: All property abutting on the north and south sides of the Youngstown road from the New Castle city line to Scotland Lane. Also, on Ridge street from Miller avenue to Grandview avenue, also Grandview avenue north of Grandview avenue bridge.

NO MORE "daylight saving" until next year. The clock hands move back one hour, until next year shall come with days of longer sunlight.

However, there are still twenty-four hours in each day, each with sixty full minutes of opportunity for planning and doing.

He who wants to succeed and is willing to work and save will succeed, at least in a material way. He who lacks ambition, or finds work too unpleasant, would not succeed with forty daylight saving devices.

JUST BACK from Europe, W. R. Hearst, in a published interview concerning Fascism and dictators generally, says:

"I do not believe in dictators of any kind. I do not believe in despotism of any kind, notwithstanding the widespread increase of this kind of government."

"I hope with all my heart and soul that the United States will be able to prove to the world the practicality of genuine Democracy."

Many, watching Europe and the United States, have wondered about the immediate prospects of Democratic government.

IN THE LONG-RUN democracy will rule. The success of Democratic government will depend upon the average of intelligence.

China supplies an excellent comparison encouraging to those that worry about Democracy's future. On page 179 of "San Min Csu I, the Three Principles of the People," a most interesting series of lectures by Dr. Sun Yat-Sen, first president of the Chinese republic, you read of the tendency toward democracy:

"This world tendency is like the Yangtze river, which makes crooks and turns, sometimes to the north and sometimes to the south, but in the end, flows eastward, and nothing can stop it."

Just so the life of mankind has flowed from theocracy to autocracy and from autocracy now on to democracy, and there is no way to stem the current. If we try to do so, even though we may have the power of Yuan Shih-Kai or a barbaric, cruel army like Chang Hsun's, we will still fail to last."

At a religious gathering in Atlantic City, the Rev. L. L. Hand, of Lambertville, chairman of the board, exclaimed:

"How it hurts the whole makeup of a true citizen to read in bold headlines, 'Beer Floods White House.'"

The reverend and most respected gentleman then went on to read of "hilarious beer party" alleged to have been given in the White House by President Roosevelt. From what purported to be a description of "a Christmas dance for the younger members of the Roosevelt family," the Rev. Mr. Hand read:

"The stately front hall of the White House was piled with kegs of beer as the dancers drank to satiety of the Rooseveltian beverage. In the conviviality of the occasion all formalities were thrown overboard as the hilarity reigned, etc."

No. 1.—The Rev. Mr. Hand ought to read in his favorite book about bearing "false witness against thy neighbor."

He could not tell the reporters where he had read about the party. He had not seen it, he knew nothing about it, and a clearer case of being a false witness could hardly be imagined.

No. 2.—If the President gave a party for "the younger members of the Roosevelt family," and supplied them with beer, in the White House or elsewhere, he would be setting an excellent example, comparatively. The custom, under prohibition, has been to supply young people at parties with gin, whiskey, cocktails and similar poisons.

No. 3.—Beer does not cause hilarity, if you take too much it may make you sad, introspective, slightly poetical. German poets drank beer.

No. 4.—Every experienced policeman will tell you:

"When a man drinks gin or whiskey, he kills somebody else, perhaps his wife. When he drinks beer, if he kills anybody, he kills himself."

No. 5.—The Rev. Mr. Hand should apologize to President Roosevelt.

"The President of the United States should not be attacked on mere hearsay. Besides, if he chooses to give beer to his children, that is his business. The country did not elect him to drink leewards. Also, the founder of Christianity, at the marriage in Cana, by a miracle, changed six 'water pots' of water into six 'water pots' of wine, so good that it amazed the governor of the feast. What would the Rev. Hand say about that miracle which, according to St. John, second chapter, eleventh verse, 'manifested forth His glory.'"

POLICE said Hauptmann, held in the Lindbergh case, had stolen a spoon in prison, sharpened it, meant to kill himself with it, or in some mysterious way intended to use it to get out of prison. Later police said he did not steal any spoon.

A man in prison, to kill himself, would need no sharpened spoon if he was really determined to die.

A handkerchief, towel, or piece of underwear, fastened around the neck, used as a tourniquet, tightened sufficiently with the finger or a pencil, would end life in three minutes.

BUT 999 times out of 1,000, a man who thought he wanted to die would loosen the tourniquet as death approached.

Nature, knowing what kind of an abuse she has prepared for us here, wisely made self-preservation the strongest of our primitive instincts.

Next comes the instinct of the family, which keeps us working here through our descendants after we go.

Mayor La Guardia, of New York, yesterday signed one of various proposed new tax bills, others may come later.

One item in the new tax plan, highly ingenious, puts a tax of fifteen per cent on all taxes paid to the United States government.

Thus, after you pay one hundred thousand dollars of income tax to Uncle Sam to help him slaughter "farrow" sows, with their unborn pigs, etc., you pay fifteen thousand dollars more to New York City. The fifteen per cent tax of the income tax, which means taxing a tax, is news, and easy Uncle Sam discovers that you have got some money, taxes you about all he thinks you can stand, then New York City adds on fifteen per cent of that tax.

The state might take the hint and add another fifty per cent, and let taxpayers sing in chorus:

"Why, let the stricken deer go weep, the hart ungalled play, for some must work while some must sleep, so runs the world away."

Miss Emma Tiele, assistant secretary of a large life insurance company in New York is the first woman to hold an executive position with that company. She began as a stenographer in 1904.

get out of prison. Later police said he did not steal any spoon. A man in prison, to kill himself, would need no sharpened spoon if he was really determined to die.

A handkerchief, towel, or piece of underwear, fastened around the neck, used as a tourniquet, tightened sufficiently with the finger or a pencil, would end life in three minutes.

BUT 999 times out of 1,000, a man who thought he wanted to die would loosen the tourniquet as death approached.

Nature, knowing what kind of an abode she has prepared for us here, wisely made self-preservation the strongest of our primitive instincts.

Next comes the instinct of the family, which keeps us working here through our descendants after we go.

Mayor La Guardia, of New York, yesterday signed one of various proposed new tax bills, others may come later.

One item in the new tax plan, highly ingenious, puts a tax of fifteen per cent on all taxes paid to the United States government.

Thus, after you pay one hundred thousand dollars of income tax to Uncle Sam to help him slaughter "farrow" sows, with their unborn pigs, etc., you pay fifteen thousand dollars more to New York City. The fifteen per cent tax of the income tax, which means taxing a tax, is news, and easy Uncle Sam discovers that you have got some money, taxes you about all he thinks you can stand, then New York City adds on fifteen per cent of that tax.

The state might take the hint and add another fifty per cent, and let taxpayers sing in chorus:

Why, let the stricken deer go weep, the hart ungalled play, for some must work while some must sleep, so runs the world away."

Direct Relief Work From New Quarters Today

Emergency Relief And RWD Headquarters Are Moved

With a minimum of confusion the officers and clerical staffs of the Emergency Relief and the RWD moved into their new headquarters in the Knitting Mill plant on South Mill street, over the week end, and today are functioning in spite of the natural inconveniences of moving.

Skilled workers have transformed a dusty, dirty three story building into an efficient office building. There are no trills in the improvements. Partitions have been made of insulating board, paint has been applied where it was necessary, flooring has been laid where it was necessary and the cost has been kept down under $9,000 for all the repairs and improvements.

On the first floor the visitors, the case supervisor, and the stores departments have their quarters. In the clothing department are underwear, stockings, trousers, dresses and the other garments necessary. Not even the young babies have been forgotten, layettes being provided for them.

The shoe department has been fitted up and where shoes are given out they are fitted properly to the feet of the people getting them. On the second floor are the offices of the directors, E. H. Robinson of the Emergency Relief, and the headquarters of the RWD, the controller and the clerical help necessary. On the third floor are the finance department workers. The third floors are 100 by 60 feet, making a total floor space of 18,000 square feet.

It is said that the Lawrence County headquarters, which are the headquarters for Mercer and Butler Counties as well as the most efficiently laid out quarters in the state. For the next few days there will be necessary adjustments to make but by the end of the week everything should be in working order.

Good Progress In Post Office Job Noted In Report

Engineer Colman Announces Building 87.8 Per Cent Completed
Today

HURRY COMPLETION; FINISH PLASTERING

Federal Construction Engineer Robert Colman reported to Washington today that New Castle's new post office construction is 87.8 per cent completed.

The October 1 progress report which he filed showed that during September there was a slight increase in the construction force and that progress in general was satisfactory. His report showed that the percentage of the construction work completed is 100, or that construction should be finished.

Of the $212,000 contract for the stone building, $186,000 has been spent in construction up to today, the report disclosed.

Engineer Colman said that a contract for a dumb waiter for the new building, an "extra" from the building contract, has been awarded the Haughton Elevator and Machine company of Toledo, O. The new machinery alone will cost $1,080 while $1,600 will be the expense incurred in preparing a shaft for it.

At the same time Colman announced his September construction report he revealed that he today became engineer-in-charge for the new $34,000 brick post office at Sebring, O. Excavation, he said, commenced September 24. He will supervise both the New Castle and Sebring jobs from here.

Plastering work should be completed this week at the local post office while the interior marble work started a short time ago, will require about two more months.

Colman said that Herman J. Bounds, mechanical engineer from Washington, D. C., made a recent inspection here and pronounced equipment satisfactory.

Graham Speaks To Rotary Club

Journalism Department Instructor At Westminster Makes Noon Address

New Castle Rotarians today heard Prof. R. X. Graham, Westminster college's publicity director and an instructor of journalism there, urge the public "to have more respect for newspapers and to unite in a determination to stand for no laws that infringe against a free press."

"Never can there be a dictatorship where there is a free press," declared Graham, referring at the time to the newspapers "under Hitler's thumb," to the "official newspapers of Russia" and to the controlled press in Italy and other European countries.

Prof. Graham came here to pinch hit as a speaker for Dr. Robert F. Galbreath, president of Westminster, who was taken ill Saturday.

In a brief but interesting message, the make-up of the newspaper industry was told by Graham. He told of "Three Cents Will Get You 10,000 Employees." The talk showed how to produce a newspaper today that many workers are engaged. He told of local and wire news services which bring to a newspaper office the up-to-the-minute accounts of every kind of news happening.

He showed that, under a well-organized cooperative plan, papers everywhere share their features to the mutual advantage of the public and themselves.

The Rotary club voted today to make a $100 contribution to the Community Chest, opening tonight.

Lawrence County Case Is Before Supreme Court

Appeal In Local Case Is Argued
At Session In Pittsburgh

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Oct. 1.—Pennsylvania's supreme court today was called upon to decide whether an automobile passenger who unknowingly diverts a driver's attention by reading from a paper in his presence is guilty of contributory negligence in an accident resulting from the distraction.

The question was presented in the appeal of W. J. Campbell and his wife, Sarah B. Campbell, of New Castle, whose claim for $25,000 damages against their granddaughter, Nellie Humphrey, New Castle, was lost in Lawrence county common pleas court.

Mrs. Campbell was injured on September 2, 1930, when a car driven by Miss Humphrey, now deceased, crashed into a pole at Silvers Rock. Testimony during the trial disclosed that the Humphrey girl withdrew her attention from the road to glance at papers held by her grandmother, riding at her side.

W. Walter Braham, appellant counsel, argued before the high court today that there was insufficient evidence to warrant the jury finding Mrs. Campbell negligent because she unwittingly interfered with the operation of the car. He insisted the girl's attention was brought to the paper without the knowledge at the time of his client.

Charles Matthew, Jr., counsel for Frances B. Campbell, administratrix of the estate of Nellie Humphrey, argued it was the appellant's duty to warn of impending danger, which, he said, she failed to do.

Regulation Of Stock Market Now Effective

Government Regulation Of Speculation Is Now
Being Tried

By ROBERT S. THORNBURGH
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Oct. 1.—The experiment into government regulation of speculative stock transactions became effective today. Owing to the fact that many of the regulations of the securities exchange commission, headed by Joseph P. Kennedy, have not been promulgated, little change is anticipated in the operation of the various exchanges.

Today ten securities were refused registration or unlisted trading privileges on any of the exchanges registered with the commission.

These ten issues include the Brooklyn-Manhattan Transit Corp. a $8,000,000 issue, and several others, on which the commission has ordered hearings. Brokers are denied the right to use these ten issues as collateral for loans or purchase of other securities.

The commission's only explanation was that it acted in the public interest and for the protection of investors.

The most important features of the law made effective today is that prohibiting manipulation of stock prices by artificial means.

This, as are certain other provisions of the law, is aimed at protecting the public from unscrupulous operators. Following extensive hearings before the senate banking and currency committee the securities exchange act was enacted principally as a result of the stock fiasco in 1929 that cost amateur traders, as well as professional investors, billions of dollars in the greatest market crash the world has even known.

Twenty five exchanges are now registered by the commission for immediate operation while 12 others were granted exemption until hearings can be conducted, perhaps within 60 days. Very few stocks are excluded.

In the effort to protect the public law requires that before stocks may go on the market for trading it must be established to the satisfaction of the commission that they are backed by sound collateral.

Council Will Meet Tuesday

To Approve RWD Projects
So That Work Can
Start In City

After council had met formally at city hall today they went into a huddle in Mayor Mayne's office and decided to meet again Tuesday and approve the Cunningham Woods development plan as a RWD project as the result of Municipal Engineer Hoskin's recommendation made during councilmanic session.

According to Hoskins the city would need $140,000 for a fill and bridge to connect Cunningham and Gaston parks. However, the 424 workers who would be given employment would cost the RWD about $104,000.

Hoskins also said Taylor street projects had been presented and he expected the three projects to provide employment for 1,000 men and result in wages amounting to about $200,000.

He said the RWD proposed to provide as many workers with jobs as possible Thursday morning. Hoskins indicated that the RWD wanted city projects and he suggested council approve as many as feasible.

Under RWD regulations all of the projects were started and on which no work has been done for some time had to be resubmitted as projects, hence his recommendation to council.

All of the jobs started here will be resubmitted.

The work at Cunningham woods will be confined to fixing the roads. It will require some time before the point is reached for the construction of the fill and the bridge.

Direct Relief Work From New Quarters Today

Emergency Relief And
Moved

With a minimum of confusion the officers and clerical staffs of the Emergency Relief and the RWD moved into their new headquarters in the Knitting Mill plant on South Mill street, over the week end, and today are functioning in spite of the natural inconveniences of moving.

Skilled workers have transformed a dusty, dirty three story building into an efficient office building. There are no frills in the improvements. Partitions have been made of insulating board, paint has been applied where it was necessary, flooring has been laid where it was necessary and the cost has been kept down under $9,000 for all the repairs and improvements.

On the first floor the visitors, the case supervisor, and the stores departments have their quarters. In the clothing department are under-wear, stockings, trousers, dresses and the other garments necessary. Not even the young babies have been forgotten, layettes being provided for them.

The shoe department has been fitted up and where shoes are given out they are fitted properly to the feet of the people getting them. On the second floor are the offices of the directors, E. H. Robinson of the Emergency Relief, Geo. Mudehart of the RWD, the controller and the clerical help necessary. On the third floor are the finance department workers. The three floors are 100 by 60 feet, making a total floor space of 18,000 square feet.

It is said that the Lawrence County headquarters, which are at the headquarters for Mercer and Butler Counties as well as the most efficiently laid out quarters in the state. For the next few days there will be necessary adjustments to make but by the end of the week everything should be in working order.

Engineer Colman said that a contract for a dumb waiter for the new building, an "extra" from the building contract, has been awarded the Houghton Elevator and Machine company of Toledo, O. "Never can there be a dictatorship where there is a free press," declared Graham, referring at the time to the newspapers "under Hitler's thumb," to the "official newspapers of Russia" and to the controlled press in Italy and other European countries.

Prof. Graham came here to pinch hit as a speaker for Dr. Robert F. Galbreath, president of Westminster, who was taken ill Saturday.

Lawrence County Case Is Before Supreme Court

Appeal In Local Case Is Argued
At Session In Pittsburgh

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Oct. 1.—Pennsylvania's supreme court today was called upon to decide whether an automobile passenger who unknowingly divers driver's negligence in an accident resulting from the distraction.

The question was presented in the appeal of W. J. Campbell and his wife, Sarah B. Campbell, of New Castle, whose claim for $25,000 damages against their granddaughter, Nellie Humphrey, New Castle, was lost in Lawrence county common pleas court.

Mrs. Campbell was injured on September 2, 1930, when a car driven by Miss Humphrey, now deceased, crashed into a pole at Silvertown. Testimony during the trial disclosed that the Humphrey girl withdrew her attention from the road to glance at papers held by her grandmother, riding at her side.

W. Walter Braham, appellant counsel, argued before the high court today that there was insufficient evidence to warrant the jury finding Mrs. Campbell negligent because she unwittingly interfered with the operation of the car. He insisted the girl's attention was brought to the paper without the knowledge at the time of his client.

Charles Matthew, Jr., counsel for Frances B. Campbell, administratrix of the estate of Nellie Humphrey, argued it was the appellant's duty to warn of impending danger, which, he said, she failed to do.

Regulation Of Stock Market Now Effective

Government Regulation Of Speculation Is Now
Being Tried

By ROBERT S. THORNBURGH
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Oct. 1.—The experiment into government regulation of speculative stock transactions became effective today.

Owing to the fact that many of the regulations of the securities exchange commission, headed by Joseph P. Kennedy, have not been promulgated, little change is anticipated in the operation of the various exchanges.

Today ten securities were refused registration or unlisted trading privileges on any of the exchanges registered with the commission.

These ten issues include the Brooklyn-Manhattan Transit Corp. a $8,000,000 issue, and several others, on which the commission has ordered hearings. Brokers are denied the right to use these ten issues as collateral for loans or purchase of other securities.

The commission's only explanation was that it acted "in the public interest and for the protection of investors."

The most important features of the law made effective today is that prohibiting manipulation of stock prices by artificial means.

This, as are certain other provisions of the law, is aimed at protecting the public from unscrupulous operators. Following extensive hearings before the senate banking and currency committees the securities exchange act was enacted principally as a result of the stock fiasco in 1929 that cost amateur traders, as well as professionals, literally billions of dollars in the greatest market crash the world has even known.

Twenty five exchanges are now registered by the commission for immediate operation while 12 others were granted exemption until hearings can be conducted, perhaps with in 60 days. Very few stocks are excluded.

In the effort to protect the public law requires that before stocks may go on the market for trading it must be established to the satisfaction of the commission that they are backed by sound collateral.

Council Will Meet Tuesday

To Approve RWD Projects
So That Work Can
Start In City

After council had met formally at city hall today they went into a huddle in Mayor Mayne's office and decided to meet again Tuesday and approve the Cunningham Woods development plan as a RWD project as the result of Municipal Engineer Hoskin's recommendation made during councilmanic session.

According to Hoskins the city would need $1,400, for a fill and bridge to connect Cunningham and Gaston parks. However, the 424 workers who would be given employment would cost the RWD about $104,000.

Hoskins also said Taylor street and Locust street ravine sewer projects had been presented and he expected the three projects to provide employment for 1,000 men and result in wages amounting to about $200,000.

He said the RWD proposed to provide as many workers with jobs as possible Thursday morning. Hoskins indicated that the RWD wanted city projects and he suggested council approve as many as feasible.

Under RWD regulations all of the projects were started and on which no work has been done for some time had to be resubmitted as projects, hence his recommendation to council.

REPORT NEW EVIDENCE IN HAUPTMANN CASE

Will Clear Way For Extradition

Report New Development Puts Hauptmann Near Hopewell On Day
Of Crime

ACCOMPLICES ARE NOW BEING SOUGHT

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—New Jersey officials moved swiftly today to add the final links to the chain of sequences in the Lindbergh kidnapping case, which reached a climax with the arrest here of Bruno Richard Hauptmann, Bronx carpenter.

According to reliable information received by International News Service, proof "definite and irrefutable" that Hauptmann was in the vicinity of the Lindbergh home in Hopewell, N. J., the day the noted aviator's son was stolen from his crib, will be made public by New Jersey authorities today.

This evidence, if it is forthcoming, will clear away the last barrier to the prompt extradition and trial of Hauptmann on a first degree murder charge.

New Evidence
According to Assistant Attorney General Joseph Lannigan, the new evidence assures the Jersey authorities of an "airtight" case against Hauptmann.

When questioned, Lannigan declined to divulge the nature of the new discovery, other than to say it was unearthed in New Jersey, indicating that New Jersey police played a lone hand in some phases of the investigation. New York authorities professed to be in ignorance of any impending development of importance.

Department of Justice agents, however, made cryptic statements which led to the conclusion they were aware of the happenings in New Jersey.

They declared last night that developments of the preceding 48 hours had taken the case "completely out of the circumstantial category."

The government officers followed this with the statement they were searching for accomplices, although Lannigan, who has become one of the leading figures in the probe, professed to know nothing of the identification of anyone except Hauptmann.

Two Possibilities
Two possibilities presented themselves in connection with the new evidence promised by Lannigan. One was that witnesses have been located who saw Hauptmann in Hopewell near the Lindbergh mansion. The other was that police have discovered the house in which it is now believed Hauptmann intended to hold the child a prisoner pending the outcome of ransom negotiations.

Lannigan definitely declared that the kidnaper never intended to murder the child immediately. He said that investigators never held that theory and that all evidence indicated that the child was accidentally killed. But because the child's son died in the commission of a crime the kidnappers are murderers in the eyes of the law.

The assistant attorney general hinted that some authorities now feel that more than one person was involved in the case after the Lindbergh's first-born was snatched from his nursery bed.

Meanwhile Department of Justice agents announced that five of the ransom bills have been put into circulation since the Bronx carpenter's arrest.

And still further corroboration was found in reports that mystery witnesses in the Bronx had given the authorities names and addresses of persons they believe were Hauptmann's confederates in the case. At least one woman has been in constant touch with District Attorney Samuel Foley and his aides, and Foley did not deny that she was a key witness.

It was reported that Col. Lindbergh himself had given positive proof that more than Hauptmann were implicated in the abduction and killing of his child. Those reports were based on announcement that Lindbergh had indicated the Bronx carpenter was one of those involved in the collection of the ransom money.

This was denied by Lannigan, however.

NO MORE "daylight saving" until next year. The clock hands move back one hour, until next year shall come with days of longer sunlight.

However, there are still twenty-four hours in each day, each with sixty full minutes of opportunity for planning and doing.

He who wants to succeed and is willing to work and save will succeed, at least in a material way. He who lacks ambition, or finds work too unpleasant, would not succeed with forty daylight saving devices.

JUST BACK from Europe, W. R. Hearst, in a published interview concerning Fascism and dictators generally, says:

"I do not believe in dictatorship of any kind. I do not believe in despotism of any kind, notwithstanding the widespread increase of this kind of government."

"I hope with all my heart and soul that the United States will be able to prove to the world the practical as well as the spiritual superiority of genuine Democracy."

Many, watching Europe and the United States, have wondered about the immediate prospects of Democratic government.

IN THE LONG RUN democracy will rule. The success of Democratic government will depend upon the average of intelligence. China supplies an excellent comparison encouraging to those that worry about Democracy's future.

On page 179 of "San Min Csu I, the Three Principles of the People," a most interesting series of lectures by Dr. Sun Yat-Sen, first president of the Chinese republic, you read of the tendency toward democracy. "This world tendency is like the Yangtze river, which makes crooks and turns, sometimes to the north and sometimes to the south, but in the end flows eastward, and nothing can stop it."

"Just so the life of mankind has flowed from democracy on to autocracy and from autocracy now on to democracy, and there is no way to stem the current. If we try to do so, even though we may have the power of Yuan Shih-Kai or a barbaric, cruel army like Chang Hsun's, we will still fail to last."

At a religious gathering in Atlantic City, the Rev. L. L. Hand, of Lambertville, chairman of the board, exclaimed:

of a true citizen to read in bold headlines, 'Beer Floods White House.'

The reverend and most respected gentleman then went on to read of "hilarious beer party" alleged to have been given in the White House by President Roosevelt. From what purported to be a description of "a Christmas dance for the younger members of the Roosevelt family," the Rev. Mr. Hand read:

"The stately front hall of the White House was piled with kegs of beer as the dancers drank to satiety of the Rooseveltian beverage. In the conviviality of the occasion all formalities were thrown overboard as the hilarity reigned, etc."

No. 1.—The Rev. Mr. Hand ought to read in his favorite book about bearing "false witness against thy neighbor."

He could not tell the reporters where he had read about the party. He had not seen it, he knew nothing about it, and a clearer case of bearing false witness could hardly be imagined.

No. 2.—If the President gave a party for "the younger members of the Roosevelt family," and supplied them with beer, in the White House or elsewhere, he would be setting an excellent example, comparatively. The custom, under prohibition, has been to supply young people at parties with gin, whisky, cocktails and similar poisons.

No. 3.—Beer does not cause hilarity, if you take too much it may make you sad, introspective, slightly poetical. German poets drank beer.

No. 4.—Every experienced policeman will tell you:

"When a man drinks gin or whisky, he kills somebody, perhaps his wife. When he drinks beer, if he kills anybody, he kills himself."

New York policemen call suicide "doing the dutch" because of the great number of suicides among beer-drinking Germans.

No. 5.—The Rev. Mr. Hand should apologize to President Roosevelt. The President of the United States should not be attacked on mere hearsay. Besides, if he chooses to give beer to his children, that is his business. The country did not elect him to drink leechwater. Also, the founder of Christianity, at the marriage in Cana, by a miracle, changed six "water pots" of water into six water pots of wine, so good that it amazed the governor of the feast. What would the Rev. Hand say about that miracle which, according to St. John, second chapter, eleventh verse, "manifested forth His glory?"

POLICE said Hauptmann, held in the Lindbergh case, had stolen a spoon in prison, sharpened it, meant to kill himself with it, or in some mysterious way intended to use it to get out of prison. Later police said he did not steal any spoon.

A man in prison, to kill himself, would need no sharpened spoon if he was really determined to die.

A handkerchief, towel, or piece of underwear, fastened around the neck, used as a tourniquet, tightened sufficiently with the finger or a pencil, would end life in three minutes.

BUT 998 times out of 1,000, a man who thought he wanted to die would loosen the tourniquet as death approached.

Nature, knowing what kind of an abode she has prepared for us here, wisely made self-preservation the strongest of our primitive instincts.

Next comes the instinct of the family, which keeps us working here through our descendants after we go.

Mayor La Guardia, of New York, yesterday signed one of various proposed new tax bills, others may come later.

One item in the new tax plan, highly ingenious, puts a tax of fifteen per cent on all taxes paid to the United States government.

Thus, after you pay one hundred thousand dollars of income tax to Uncle Sam to help him slaughter "farrow" sows, with their unborn pigs, etc., you pay fifteen thousand dollars more to New York City. The fifteen per cent tax of the income tax, which means taxing a tax, is news, and easy Uncle Sam discovers that you have got some money, taxes you about all he thinks you can stand, then New York City adds on fifteen per cent of that tax.

The state might take the hint and add another fifty per cent, and let taxpayers sing in chorus:

"Why, let the stricken deer go weep, the hart ungalled play, for some must work while some must weep, so runs the world away."

Direct Relief Work From New Quarters Today

Emergency Relief And
Moved

With a minimum of confusion the officers and clerical staffs of the Emergency Relief and the RWD moved into their new headquarters in the Knitting Mill plant on South Mill street, over the week end, and today are functioning in spite of the natural inconveniences of moving. Skilled workers have transformed a dusty, dirty three story building into an efficient office building. There are no frills in the improvements. Partitions have been made of insulating board, paint has been applied where it was necessary, flooring has been laid where it was necessary and the cost has been kept down under $9,000 for all the repairs and improvements.

On the first floor the visitors, the case supervisor, and the stores departments have their quarters. In the clothing department are undergarments, stockings, trousers, dresses and the other garments necessary. Not even the young babies have been forgotten, layettes being provided for them.

The shoe department has been fitted up and where shoes are given out they are fitted properly to the feet of the people getting them. On the second floor are the offices of the directors, E. H. Robinson of the Emergency Relief, Geo. Mudehart of the RWD, the controller and the clerical help necessary. On the third floor are the finance department workers. The three floors are 100 by 80 feet, making a total floor space of 18,000 square feet.

It is said that the Lawrence County headquarters, which are the headquarters for Mercer and Butler Counties as well as the most efficiently laid out quarters in the state. For the next few days there will be necessary adjustments to make but by the end of the week everything should be in working order.

Photos Tell Story of Change in NRA

Prof. Graham came here to pinch hit as a speaker for Dr. Robert F. Galbreath, president of Westminster, who was taken ill today.

In a brief but interesting message, the make-up of the newspaper industry was told by Graham. His topic was "Three Cents Will Get You 10,000 Employees." The talk showed how to produce a newspaper today that many workers are engaged. He told of how news services which bring to the newspaper office the up-to-the-minute accounts of every kind of news happening. He showed that, under a well-organized cooperative plan, papers everywhere share their features to the mutual advantage of the public and themselves.

Good Progress In Post Office Job Noted In Report

Engineer Colman Announces Building 87.8 Per Cent Completed
Today

HURRY COMPLETION; FINISH PLASTERING

Federal Construction Engineer Robert Colman reported to Washington today that New Castle's new post office construction is 87.8 percent completed.

The October 1 progress report which he filed showed that during September there was a slight increase in the construction force and that progress in general was satisfactory. His report showed that the percentage is 100 on that construction should be finished.

Of the $212,000 contract for the stone building, $188,000 has been spent in construction up to today, the report disclosed.

Engineer Colman said that a contract for a dumb waiter for the new building, an "extra" from the building contract, has been awarded the Haughton Elevator and Machine company of Toledo, O. The new machinery alone will cost $1,080 while $1,600 will be the expense incurred in preparing a shaft for the lift.

At the same time, Colman announced his September construction report he revealed that he today became engineer-in-charge for the new $44,000 brick post office at Sebring, O. Excavation, he said, commenced September 26. He will supervise the new building and Sebring jobs from here.

Plastering work should be completed this week at the local post office while the interior marble work started a short time ago, will require about one more month. Raters have arrived on the grounds for installation. Other minor work is under way.

Colman said that Herman J. Bounds, mechanical engineer from Washington, D. C., made a recent inspection here and pronounced equipment satisfactory.

Lawrence County Case Is Before Supreme Court

Appeal In Local Case Is Argued
Pittsburgh

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Oct. 1.—Pennsylvania's supreme court today was called upon to decide whether an automobile passenger who unknowingly diverts a driver's attention by reading from a paper in his presence is guilty of contributory negligence in an accident resulting from the distraction.

The question was presented in the appeal of W. J. Campbell and his wife, Sarah B. Campbell, of New Castle, whose claim for $25,000 damages against their granddaughter, Nellie Humphrey, New Castle, was lost in Lawrence county common pleas court.

Mrs. Campbell was injured on September 2, 1930, when a car, driven by Mrs. Humphrey, now deceased, crashed into a pole at Siltwater. Testimony during the trial disclosed that the Humphrey girl withdrew her attention from the road to glance at papers held by her grandmother, riding at her side.

W. Walter Braham, appellant counsel, argued before the high court today that there was insufficient evidence to warrant the jury finding Mrs. Campbell negligent by the operation of the car. He insisted the girl's attention was brought to the paper without the knowledge at the time of her client, Charles Matthews, Jr., counsel for Frances B. Campbell, administratrix of the estate of Nellie Humphrey, argued it was the appellant's duty to warn of impending danger, which, he said, she failed to do.

Better Housing Meeting Tuesday

Public Meeting Also To Be Held In City Council Rooms
On Next Friday Evening

Alfred W. Chilton, secretary of the Board of Trade and temporary secretary of the Better Housing committee, appointed by Chairman J. W. Patison, has sent out notices of a meeting of the committee with material men and contractors to be held at the Chamber of Commerce rooms Tuesday evening.

Steps will be taken at this meeting to outline a plan of operation, to be followed by a public meeting in city council rooms, Friday, October 5th, to which business men in others interested in a better housing campaign are to be invited.

It is estimated that there is from a half million to a million dollars' worth of house repair work to be done in New Castle when the plan is placed in operation. This will furnish employment to all kinds of mechanics in the building trades. Full details of the plans for financing will be given at the meeting to be held on Friday evening. It is expected by that time to have a place selected for an office and information to those who desire to install improvements or repair their properties.

Regulation Of Stock Market Now Effective

Government Regulation Of Speculation Is Now
Being Tried

By ROBERT S. THORNBURGH
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1.—The experiment into government regulation of speculative stock transactions became effective today.

Owing to the fact that many of the regulations of the securities exchange commission, headed by Joseph P. Kennedy, have not been promulgated, little change is anticipated in the operation of the various exchanges.

Today ten securities were refused registration or unlisted trading privileges on any of the exchanges registered with the commission.

These ten issues include the Brooklyn-Manhattan Transit Corp. a $8,000,000 issue, and several others, on which the commission has ordered hearings. Brokers are denied the right to use these ten issues as collateral for loans or purchase of other securities.

The commission's only explanation was that it acted "in the public interest and for the protection of investors."

The most important features of the law made effective today is that prohibiting manipulation of stock prices by artificial means.

This, as are certain other provisions of the law, is aimed at protecting the public from unscrupulous operators. Following extensive hearings before the senate banking and currency committee, principally as a result of the stock fiasco in 1929 that cost amateur traders, as well as professionals, literally billions of dollars in the greatest market crash the world has ever known.

Twenty five exchanges are now registered by the commission for immediate operation while 12 others were granted exemption until hearings can be conducted, perhaps within 60 days. Very few stocks are excluded.

Council Will Meet Tuesday

To Approve RWD Projects
So That Work Can
Start In City

After council had met formally at city hall today they went into a huddle in Mayor Mayne's office and decided to meet again Tuesday and approve the Cunningham Woods development plan as a RWD project as the result of Municipal Engineer Hoskins' recommendation made during councilmanic session.

According to Hoskins the city would need $1,400, for a fill and bridge to connect Cunningham and Gaston parks. However, the 424 workers who would be given employment would cost the RWD about $200,000.

Hoskins also said Taylor street and Locust street ravine sewer projects had been presented and he expected the three projects to provide employment for 1,000 men and result in wages amounting to about $200,000.

Under RWD regulations all of the projects were started and on which no work has been done for some time had to be resubmitted as projects, hence his recommendation to council.

All of the jobs started here will be resubmitted.

The work at Cunningham woods will be confined to fixing the roads. It will require some time before the point is reached for the construction of the fill and the bridge.

St. Louis Cards Capture Pennant

"Dizzy" Dean Goes To Mound And Upsets Cincinnati For 30th Victory

Giants Beaten By Brooklyn, World Series To Start Wednesday In Detroit

By DAVID J. WALSH
International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—Write it off as a miracle. Call it gallantry, bravery, courage and the inevitable triumph of merit over mere inspiration. But, whatever you care to say about it, the St. Louis Cardinals are the National League champions of the 1934 season and, for many strictly non-essential part, you can call it anything but luck.

No club is lucky that is seven games back of first place on September 6 and comes on to win on the final day of the season. There is no good or bad fortune possible in connection with one contender that wins one of its last seven games and another that wins seven of its last eight, including four straight.

Deans Wins 30th
The fourth game yesterday in St. Louis when Mr. Deterious Dean beat the Cincinnati Reds in the score of 9-0 while the New York Giants were passing painlessly away before the Brooklyn Dodgers, 8-3, in the innings.

The Giants didn't exactly quit. But they didn't exactly struggle, either, and confronted by a club that played .800 baseball through most of September, their chances were always bad.

Briefly, the best ball club in the National League now, last week, last month and in April, won the pennant right on the nose in St. Louis yesterday and, at least for purposes of this quite whimsical world series, it's the best ball club in baseball. I'm picking it to win the series.

Favors Cardinals
I'm picking it on the strength of the two victories that Deterious Dean doubtless is promising his clientele this morning Deterious will fulfill. He's a natural fulfiller, as witness the fact that if the Cards didn't play yesterday, they would have won the pennant without further ado. But they did play and thus took a good, gambler's chance, or did they?

Probably they didn't feel that way about it. Probably they concluded that, any time Deterious was ready, the chance was negligible. In any case, they and the great Dean won by a shutout in the key game of the year.

Watch Deans Go
Of course, the Detroit Tigers are not the Cincinnati Reds but everybody is liable to look like Cincinnati to a man who has won 30 games in

Pitt And Tech Get Victories In First Games

Waynesburg Tops Slippery Rock 12 To 0, Temple Defeats Va. Poly 34 To 0

By WARREN (FATS) HELLER
All-American Football In 1932 Copyright, 1934, By International News Service

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 1.—Football classics of 1934 started off with a bang.

Big teams throughout Pennsylvania did just what was expected. They won over minor opposition with little difficulty. Strange things marked the clashes in which smaller colleges matched skill and wits. Slippery, soggy fields upset the run games and underdogs became winners in a few instances.

But for the major colleges the opposition proved to be just what opening games generally are, push-overs.

The Golden Panthers of Pittsburgh University displayed power, especially in the offensive, crushing W. & J. 26 to 6. Head Coach Dr. John E. (Jock) Sutherland appears to have no worries as far as substitutes are concerned. His regulars were good but no better than his second string eleven against the hard fighting Presidents.

From all appearances Pitt has a threatening combination, one well qualified to match the power of the country's best, Southern California, Notre Dame and Minnesota, whom they play later.

Although victorious the Tartans of Carnegie Tech were disappointing in their struggle against 11 "iron men" of Geneva College. Tech won 7-0, but the moral victory belongs to Geneva, coached by Dike Beede, a former pupil of Howard Harpster, Tech mentor. Dopesters expected Tech to take the Covenanters easily but Beede, using the same 11 men throughout the entire game, nearly shattered the victory hopes of his master.

Tech Close Shave
Steve Terebus saved the day for Tech by galloping 63 yards for their only score. Except for this redeeming feat, the Tartans had little to boast about. Their play was spotty while the Geneva warriors flashed a brilliant running attack and scored five first downs to Carnegie's three.

Inaugurating his 40th year as a gridiron coach, Glenn S. (Pop) Warner guided his Temple gridders to a 34-0 triumph over Virginia Poly. Two years, has familiarized his proteges with his system of play. It might well be said Temple has returned to the football front and will bear watching.

Waynesburg upset the Slippery Rock Teachers College eleven at Waynesburg in a sea of mud and water 12 to 0 and displayed power with a second and third team combination for the greater part of the game.

Babe Ruth Plays Last As Regular

Ruth Will Not Be In Regular Yankee Lineup At Start Of 1935 Season

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1.—The mighty Babe Ruth was out of baseball today as a regular player.

He ended his 22-year career as an active player and abdicated his throne as king of the diamond voluntarily here yesterday after the Yankees' clash with the Senators.

During the ceremony Ruth accepted a huge parchment scroll bearing the names of his admirers in this vicinity.

In accepting the scroll Ruth said he will ask his family to preserve it through the coming generations and added:

"I hope to play baseball as long as I am able to be of use to my team, perhaps two or three times a week next season."

Marshall Suffers Fractured Leg In Victory Over Zelenople High

Besemer High school football team defeated Zelenople High last Friday afternoon at Zelenople 12 to 6, but it was a costly victory for Coach Fredericks who lost the services of his star halfback Marshall with a fractured leg. Marshall will be out of the game perhaps for the rest of the season.

The injury to Marshall came in the third period shortly after he had dashed 50 yards for a Besemer touchdown. Zelenople high lost the services of two star performers, Frankenstein and Kusiglio, the former with a dislocated shoulder and the latter with a badly wrenched leg.

Johnstown High Next For Locals

New Castle High Gridders Face One Of Toughest Foes Saturday Afternoon

New Castle High school football team riding the crest of three early season victories will face the powerful driving Johnstown High team at Taggart Stadium Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock. The game looks like the biggest one of the 1934 card for the locals.

Johnstown High in the first two games of the year has smothered opponents under scores of 41 to 0, and 40 to 0, with Bedford High and Mount Union High being the victims.

The high scores speaks volumes for the offensive ability of the Flood City team.

Stop Zakula
New Castle High has won three early season games Braddock 13 to 0, Ellwood City 7 to 0, and Charleroi 19 to 6. New Castle in three games has not scored as many points as the Johnstowners in two games.

Coach Phil H. Bridenbaugh after looking at the Johnstown High team returned to New Castle and started immediately to lay plans for stopping those big burly backfield men, especially this man Zakula who ran wild Saturday against Mount Union and scored four touch downs.

The New Castle lineup that started the Charleroi game will be used again this week. New Castle played a much improved game last Friday.

Shenango To Play Mars On Saturday

Bowling League Opens Wednesday

WEBBERS TO PLAY AT ELLWOOD CITY

Wednesday night will see the opening matches in the Beaver-Lawrence County Ten-Pin League for the season of 1934-1935.

Following are the captains who will lead their charges onto the various alleys with fervent expectations of getting off to a good start. In New Castle, Norman H. Buckingham and the last year's champion Andrews team, will be pitted against the Union team, captained by J. D. Thompson. On the same alleys, Captain Paul A. Vollmer will lead his last year's runners up or the second team, the Union against Captain George T. Grimm's Electro Platers from Rochester.

On the Alleys in Aliquippa, Captain George A. Wachter with his West Aliquippa team, will have tough opposition in the American Legion No. 225 team, captained by "Bill" Williams. Out in Ellwood City Captain M. J. Cable will invade the Shelby Alley with his Webber team against C. McDonalds Shelby Social team.

If the spirit of keen rivalry that pervades the air is any criterion, the coming season should prove an exciting and interesting one, since all the teams facing the scratch are composed of the best bowlers to be secured in the various communities that they represent. So a successful season seems in the offing for one of the oldest bowling leagues in this end of the state.

How Opponents Fared Saturday

New Castle Opponents Show Strength In Games Played Saturday

New Castle high school football team will face a lot of tough competition in the coming weeks judging from the scores rolled up by future opponents in the games played Saturday.

First of all Johnstown high walloped Mount Union high 40 to 0. Turtle Creek upset Oliver high 7 to 0. Butler and Ellwood City played a scoreless tie. Sharon smothered Greenville 46 to 0.

Warren high played last Friday night and defeated Youngstown East 7 to 0. Washington high played last Friday afternoon and defeated Burgettstown high 20 to 6. New Kensington and Braddock did not play Saturday due to rain. Clarion high was idle.

Komicin Makes Freshman Team

Walter "Powerhouse" Komicin, New Castle great fullback last year is now at Penn State College and making a spry bid for a starting backfield post with the Lion Club. Komicin can be used at either a fullback or halfback post. He is rapidly developing speed and this together with his line plunging ability will stand him in good stead.

The State Freshmen battled the varsity to a standstill Saturday on a muddy field. Komicin was a starting selection.

Titans To Play In New York Saturday

(Special To The News)
NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Oct. 1.—In good shape despite the hard battle with John Carroll at Cleveland Friday night, Coach Bill Gilbane's Westminster College football squad starts this afternoon to get ready for the Fordham University game to be played in New York Saturday.

The Titans will face the Notre Dame system for the second time in two weeks as they face Crowley's Fordham Rams, one of the strongest teams in the East. The game will be played in Yankee Stadium according to John Coffey, Fordham graduate manager.

Coaches Bill and Tom Gilbane will leave with the Westminster squad by train late Thursday evening. The team will arrive in New York Friday morning and will be quartered either at the West Chester Country Club at Rye or at one of the uptown hotels. The team will leave New York Saturday night following the game.

Westminster's hope so far as the Fordham game goes is that the squad will not suffer any injuries. In the two games so far, no serious injuries have been received. If the Titans can pass the Fordham contest without injury, then there is a chance that they will click against district foes.

Blocking and tackling will probably come in for considerable attention this week as the Titans fell down in these departments against John Carroll Friday. The play generally against the Cleveland team was a bit better, however, than against Slippery Rock in the opener.

Betting Odds Favor Cards

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—Jack Doyle, famous Broadway betting commissioner, today quoted odds of 3-5 on the St. Louis Cardinals to defeat the Detroit Tigers in the world's series.

The cards are quoted at 7 to 10 to win the opening game, while the Tigers are 11 to 16 for the first encounter. The Detroiters are quoted at 6 to 5 for the series.

Doyle predicted the forthcoming classic would be one of the greatest ever from the standpoint of betting. The flood of Cardinal money, he declared, outdies anything since the days of the Boston Red Sox of Hooper, Lewis and Speaker.

Bowling League Opens Wednesday

WEBBERS TO PLAY AT ELLWOOD CITY

Wednesday night will see the opening matches in the Beaver-Lawrence County Ten-Pin League for the season of 1934-1935.

Following are the captains who will lead their charges onto the various alleys with fervent expectations of getting off to a good start. In New Castle, Norman H. Buckingham and the last year's champion Andrews team, will be pitted against the Union team, captained by J. D. Thompson. On the same alleys, Captain Paul A. Vollmer will lead his 1st year runners up or the second team, the Union against Captain George T. Grimm's Electro Flatters from Rochester.

On the Alleys in Alliquippa, Captain George A. Wachter with his West Allequippa team, will have tough opposition in the American Legion No. 225 team, captained by "Bill" Williams. Out in Ellwood City Captain M. J. Cable will invade the Shelby Alley with his Webber team against C. T. McDonalds Shelby Social team.

If the spirit of keen rivalry that pervades the air is any criterion, the coming season should prove an exciting and interesting one, since all the teams testing the scratch are composed of the best bowlers to be secured in the various communities that they represent. So a successful season seems in the offing for one of the oldest bowling leagues in this end of the state.

How Opponents Fared Saturday

New Castle Opponents Show Strength In Games Played Saturday

New Castle high school football team will face a lot of tough competition in the coming weeks judging from the scores rolled up by future opponents in the games played Saturday.

First of all Johnstown high walloped Mount Union high 40 to 0. Turtle Creek upset Oliver high 7 to 0. Butler and Ellwood City played a scoreless tie. Sharon smothered Greenville 46 to 0.

Warren high played last Friday night and defeated Youngstown East 7 to 0. Washington high played last Friday afternoon and defeated Burgettstown high 20 to 6. New Kensington and Braddock did not play Saturday due to rain. Clairton high was idle.

Komicin Makes Freshman Team

Walter "Powerhouse" Komicin, New Castle great fullback last year is now at Penn State College and making a spirited bid for a starting backfield post with the Lion Clubs. Komicin can be used at either a fullback or halfback post. He is rapidly developing speed and this together with his line plunging ability will stand him in good stead.

The State Freshmen battled the varsity to a standstill Saturday on a muddy field. Komicin was a starting selection.

When you're buying fancy gloves, look for these points: fabric, that is either stretchable or reinforced with stretchable material; cuff not too dressy for the occasion on which you are to wear them. Watch also the fastening, ornaments and length

Titans To Play In New York Saturday

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Oct. 1.—In good shape despite the hard battle with John Carroll at Cleveland Friday night, Coach Bill Gibbane's Westminster College football squad starts this afternoon to get ready for the Fordham University game to be played in New York Saturday.

The Titans will face the Notre Dame system for the second time in two weeks as they face Crowley's Fordham Rams, one of the strongest teams in the East. The game will be played in Yankee Stadium according to John Coffey, Fordham graduate manager.

Coaches Bill and Tom Gibbane will leave with the Westminster squad by train late Thursday evening. The team will arrive in New York Friday morning and will be quartered either at the West Chester Country Club at Rye or at one of the uptown hotels. The team will leave New York Saturday night following the game.

Westminster's hope so far as the Fordham game goes is that the squad will not suffer any injuries. In the two games so far, no serious injuries have been received. If the Titans can pass the Fordham contest without injury, then there is a chance that they will click against district foes.

Blocking and tackling will probably come in for considerable attention this week as the Titans fell down in these departments against John Carroll Friday. The play generally against the Cleveland team was a bit better, however, than against Slippery Rock in the opener.

Betting Odds Favor Cards

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—Jack Doyle, famous Broadway betting commissioner, today quoted odds of 3-5 on the St. Louis Cardinals to defeat the Detroit Tigers in the world's series.

The cards are quoted at 7 to 10 to win the opening game, while the Tigers are 11 to 19 for the first encounter. The Detroiters are quoted at 6 to 5 for the series.

Doyle predicted the forthcoming classic would be one of the greatest ever from the standpoint of betting. The flood of Cardinal money, he declared, outdies anything since the days of the Boston Red Sox of Hooper, Lewis and Speaker.

Union Prepares For Rochester

Union High school football team went back to work this afternoon at the Union High field in preparation for the fourth game of the 1934 card, at Rochester High, Saturday afternoon.

Coach Davey Boyd plans drastic changes in the Union lineup again this week in order to strike a winning combination. Union has lost the first three games of the year to Ellwood, Evans City and Bridgeville. The wearers of the Blue and White are eager for a victory over Rochester.

A veil that covers only the lower part of the wearer's face, like the now discarded veil of a Turkish woman is being featured.

Miss Helene Madison, Seattle girl swimmer, set twelve world records and twenty-seven American records in eight months. Cavalcade, famous race horse, is fed six times a day. Every 24-hours the thoroughbred consumes twelve quarts of oats and 40-pounds of hay. Blondy Ryan, shortstop of the Giants, once threw a 60-yard pass that gave Holy Cross a football victory over Harvard. Sydney Franklin, Brooklyn bull fighter, says the most sensitive parts of a bull's anatomy are the tips of its horns. He should know. A baseball league that travels by bus is termed a "horse and buggy league." In 1908, Pitcher Durham of the Indianapolis Indians hurled five double-headers, winning all ten games.

St. Louis Cards Capture Pennant

Giants Beaten By Brooklyn, World Series To Start Wednesday In Detroit

By DAVID J. WALSH
International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—Write it off as a miracle. Call it gallantry, bravery, courage and the inevitable triumph of merit over mere inspiration. But whatever you care to say about it, the St. Louis Cardinals are the National League champions of the 1934 season and, for a strictly non-essential part, you can call it anything but luck.

No club is lucky that is seven games back of first place on September 6 and comes on to win on the final day of the season. There is no good or bad fortune possible in connection with one contender that wins one of its last seven games and another that wins seven of its last eight, including four straight.

Deans Wins 30th
The fourth game yesterday in St. Louis when Mr. Deterious Dean beat the Cincinnati Reds in the score of 9-0 while the New York Giants were passing pathetically away before the Brooklyn Dodgers, 8-5, in the 11th inning.

The Giants didn't exactly quit. But they didn't exactly struggle, either, and confronted by a club that played 300 baseball through most of September, their chances were always bad.

Briefly, the best ball club in the National League, now, last week, last month and in April, won the pennant right on the nose in St. Louis yesterday and, at least for purposes of this quite whimsical world series, it's the best ball club in baseball. I'm picking it to win the series.

Favors Cardinals
I'm picking it on the strength of the two victories that Deterious Dean doubtless is promising his clientele this morning Deterious will fulfill. He's a natural fulfiller, as witness the fact that if the Cards didn't play yesterday, they would have won the pennant without further ado. But they did play and thus took a good, gamblers' chance, or did they?

Probably they didn't feel that way about it. Probably they concluded that, any time Deterious was ready, the chance was negligible. In any case, they and the great Dean won by a shutout in the key game of the year.

Watch Deans Go
Of course, the Detroit Tigers are not the Cincinnati Reds but everybody is liable to look like Cincinnati to a man who has won 30 games in a year.

Winter's Fall Suits
Selecting one is like choosing between your own children.

At first glance, you'll wish your grandfather had been an Astor... a Gould... or a Vanderbilt. You'll want four of these suits even though you can only afford one. You'll have a difficult time choosing between this gorgeous brown double-breasted... this stunning gray with the plaided back... this tempting blue with the new line lapels.

Yes... you'll have a hard time deciding on "which suit"... but not on "which store". And after you do make up your mind to pattern you can also make up your mind to this... that handsomer clothing or better clothing prices are to be found even in story books.

Griffon and Varsity-Town Fall Suits are ready $25 to $35

Pitt And Tech Get Victories In First Games

Waynesburg Tops Slippery Rock 12 To 0, Temple Defeats Va. Poly 34 To 0

By WARREN (FATS) HELLER
All-American Halfback In 1932
Copyright, 1934, By International News Service

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 1.—Football classics of 1934 started off with a bang.

Big teams throughout Pennsylvania did just what was expected. They won over minor opposition with little difficulty. Strange things marked the clashes in which smaller colleges matched skill and wits. Slippery, soggy fields upset the run of events and underdogs became winners in a few instances.

But for the major colleges the opposition proved to be just what opening games generally are, push-overs.

Pitt Team Strong

The Golden Panthers of Pittsburgh University displayed power, especially in the offensive, crushing W. & J. 25 to 6. Head Coach Dr. John B. (Jack) Sutherland appears to have no worries as far as substitutes are concerned. His regulars were good but no better than his second string eleven against the hard fighting Presidents.

From all appearances Pitt has a threatening combination, one well qualified to match the power of the country's best, Southern California, Notre Dame and Minnesota, whom they play later.

Although victorious, the Tartans of Carnegie Tech were disappointing in their struggle against 11 "iron men" of Geneva College. Tech won 7-0 but the moral victory belongs to Geneva, coached by Dike Beede, a former pupil of Howard Hapner, Tech mentor. Dopesters expected Tech to take the Covenanters easily but Beede, using the same 11 men throughout the entire game, nearly shattered the victory hopes of his master.

Tech Close Shave

Steve Terebus saved the day for Tech by galloping 63 yards for their only score. Except for this redeeming feat, the Tartans had little to boast about. Their play was spotty while the Geneva warriors flashed a brilliant running attack and scored five first downs to Carnegie's three.

Inaugurating his 40th year as a gridiron coach, Glenn S. (Pop) Warner guided his Temple gridders to a 34-0 triumph over Virginia Poly. Two years, has familiarized his proteges with his system of play. It might well be said Temple has returned to the football front and will be watching.

Waynesburg upset the Slippery Rock Teachers College eleven at Waynesburg in a sea of mud and water 12 to 0 and displayed power with a second and third team combination for the greater part of the game.

Babe Ruth Plays Last As Regular

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Oct. 1.—The mighty Babe Ruth was out of baseball today as a regular player.

He ended his 22-year career as an active player and abdicated his throne as king of the diamond voluntarily here yesterday after the Yankees' clash with the Senators.

During the ceremony Ruth accepted a huge parchment scroll bearing the names of his admirers in this vicinity.

In accepting the scroll Ruth said he will ask his family to preserve it through the coming generations and added: "I hope to play baseball as long as I am able to be of use to my team, perhaps two or three times a week next season."

Bessemer Loses Football Star

Marshall Suffers Fractured Leg In Victory Over Zellenople High

Bessemer High school football team defeated Zellenople High last Friday afternoon at Zellenople 12 to 6, but it was a costly victory for Coach Fredericks who lost the services of his star halfback Marshall with a fractured leg. Marshall will be out of the game perhaps for the rest of the season.

The injury to Marshall came in the third period shortly after he had dashed 50 yards for a Bessemer touchdown. Zellenople high lost the services of two star performers Frankenstein and Kustigle, the former with a dislocated shoulder and the latter with a badly wrenched leg.

Next For Locals

New Castle High Gridders

Face One Of Toughest Foes

Saturday Afternoon

New Castle High school football team riding the crest of three early season victories will face the powerful driving Johnstown High team at Taggart Stadium Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock. The game looks like the biggest one of the 1934 card for the locals.

Johnstown High in the first two games of the year has smothered opponents under scores of 41 to 0, and 40 to 0, with Bedford High and Mount Union High being the victims.

The high scores speaks volumes for the offensive ability of the Flood City team.

Stop Zakula
New Castle High has won three early season games Braddock 13 to 0, Ellwood City 7 to 0, and Charleroi 19 to 6. New Castle in three games has not scored as many points as the Johnstowners in two games.

Coach Phil H. Bridenbaugh after looking at the Johnstown High team returned to New Castle and started immediately to lay plans for stopping these big burly backfield men, especially this man Zakula who ran wild Saturday against Mount Union and scored four touchdowns.

The New Castle lineup that started the Charleroi game will be used again this week. New Castle played a much improved game last Friday.

Shenango To Play Mars On Saturday

Shenango High football team will go to Mars Pa. for a game with the Mars High team Saturday, October 6, it was announced by Head Coach Ed Raney today. Shenango won over Slippery Rock and hope to take the measure of Mars High. Hard workouts are planned this week.

Bowling League Opens Wednesday

WEBBERS TO PLAY AT ELLWOOD CITY

Wednesday night will see the opening matches in the Beaver-Lawrence County Ten-Pin League for the season of 1934-1935.

Following are the captains who will lead their charges onto the various alleys with fervent expectations of getting off to a good start. In New Castle, Norman H. Buckingham and the last year's champion Andrews team, will be pitted against the Union team, captained by J. D. Thompson. On the same alleys, Captain Paul A. Vollmer will lead his 1st years runners up or the second team, the Union against Captain George T. Grimm's Electro Platers from Rochester.

On the Alleys in Alliquippa, Captain George A. Wachter with his West Alliquippa team, will have tough opposition in the American Legion No. 225 team, captained by "Bill" Williams. Out in Ellwood City Captain M. J. Cable will invade the Shelby Alley with his Webber team against C. T. McDonalds Shelby Social team.

If the spirit of keen rivalry that pervades the air is any criterion, the coming season should prove an exciting and interesting one, since all the teams toting the scratch are composed of the best bowlers to be secured in the various communities that they represent. So a successful season seems in the offing for one of the oldest bowling leagues in this end of the state.

How Opponents Fared Saturday

New Castle Opponents Show Strength In Games Played Saturday

New Castle high school football team will face a lot of tough competition in the coming weeks judging from the scores rolled up by future opponents in the games played Saturday.

First of all Johnstown high walloped Mount Union high 40 to 0. Turtle Creek upset Oliver high 7 to 0. Butler and Ellwood City played a scoreless tie. Sharon smothered Greenville 46 to 0.

Warren high played last Friday night and defeated Youngstown East 7 to 0. Washington high played last Friday afternoon and defeated Braddock high 20 to 6. New Kensington and Braddock did not play Saturday due to rain. Clairton high was idle.

Kominic Makes Freshman Team

Walter "Powerhouse" Kominic, New Castle great fullback last year is now at Penn State College and making a spirited bid for a starting backfield post with the Lion Clubs.

Kominic can be used at either a fullback or halfback post. He is rapidly developing speed and this together with his line plunging ability will stand him in good stead.

The State Freshmen battled the varsity to a standstill Saturday on a muddy field. Kominic was a starting selection.

When you're buying fancy gloves, look for these points: fabric, that either is stretchable or reinforced with stretchable material; cuff not too dressy for the occasion on which you are to wear them. Watch also the fastening, ornaments and length.

Titans To Play In New York Saturday

(Special To The News)
NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Oct. 1.—In good shape despite the hard battle with John Carroll at Cleveland Friday night, Coach Bill Gilbane's Westminster College football squad starts this afternoon to get ready for the Fordham University game to be played in New York Saturday.

The Titans will face the Notre Dame system for the second time in two weeks as they face Crowley's Fordham Rams, one of the strongest teams in the East. The game will be played in Yankee Stadium according to John Coffey, Fordham graduate manager.

Coaches Bill and Tom Gilbane will leave with the Westminster squad by train late Thursday evening. The team will arrive in New York Friday morning and will be quartered either at the West Chester Country Club at Rye or at one of the uptown hotels. The team will leave New York Saturday night following the game.

Westminster's hope so far as the Fordham game goes is that the squad will not suffer any injuries. In the two games so far, no serious injuries have been received. If the Titans can pass the Fordham contest without injury, then there is a chance that they will click against district foes.

Blocking and tackling will probably come in for considerable attention this week as the Titans fell down in these departments against John Carroll Friday. The play generally against the Cleveland team was a bit better, however, than against Slippery Rock in the opener.

Betting Odds Favor Cards
(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—Jack Doyle, famous Broadway betting commissioner, today quoted odds of 3-5 on the St. Louis Cardinals to defeat the Detroit Tigers in the world's series.

The cards are quoted at 7 to 10 to win the opening game, while the Tigers are 11 to 16 for the first encounter. The Detroiters are quoted at 6 to 5 for the series.

Doyle predicted the forthcoming classic would be one of the greatest over from the standpoint of betting. The flood of Cardinal money, he declared, outdies anything since the days of the Boston Red Sox of Hooper, Lewis and Spenker.

THE SPORT PATROL

By JOHN J. MAHER, JR.

LISTEN TO THIS

Johnny Evers and Pat Moran originated first combination catcher's signs in 1914. The first Moran in baseball was Candy Cummings, who invented curve ball pitching. As a member of Hartford in 1878 Candy hurried and beat Buffalo in a doubleheader. John Ball won the British Open golf championship six times: the first in 1888 and the last in 1912. A number of years ago, turf was imported from an English graveyard to cover the tennis courts at Seneca, N. Y. According to Sam Rice, Johnny Drozda is the best college pitcher to break into the majors, since George Sisler stepped from the campus to the big time. Bernie Wefers won the 100 and 200-yard running championship of the United States during three successive years. Gilbert Hunt of Massachusetts Tech, winner of the England intercollegiate tennis title, prefers to play in his bare feet.

When the Dodgers lose, Casey Stengel says, "We are building for next year." Dazzy Vance played with 13 ball clubs over a 10-year period before he made good with Brooklyn in 1922. Be on the lookout for big shake-ups on the Cleveland, Pittsburgh, Cubs and White Sox rosters this winter. Euel Moore, like Guy Bush, thinks as much of a base hit as he does pitching a shut-out. Frankie Frisch is a low ball hitter left handed and a high ball hitter right handed. The whippet, fastest dog in the world, is a cross between the greyhound and terrier. Fred Clarke, former Pittsburgh Pirate, invented sun glasses for outfielders. Harry Newman, former Michigan quarterback and present New York professional player, who now excels in tossing passes, was better at catching them in high school. In 1927 Newman made five one-handed catches and was chosen for the All-Detroit team.

The Giants have nicknamed Phil Weintraub, the Jewish outfielder, "Mickey." America's most ancient rivalry in football is that between Yale and Princeton, established in 1873. Princeton University's running track, rated the fastest in this country, has a three foot bed of cinders, which makes it springy. John Conlan, outfielder of the Chicago White Sox, quit the International league because he could make more money as a playground director in Chicago. One of the most adept infielders in the American league at tagging base-runners is Marvin Owen. That art used to be his weakness. When the Tom Thumb golf craze was at its peak, Walter Hagen and Horton

Smith were getting $50 an hour in New York for teaching the fans how to putt the ball. Paul Waner has yacht at his winter home in Florida that he calls "The Home Run."

In 1931 Billy Petrolle was paid $500 a second for his fight with King Tut at St. Paul. Billy was knocked out in 24 seconds. Miss Helene Madison, Seattle girl swimmer, set twelve world records and twenty-seven American records in eight months. Cavalcade, famous race horse, is fed six times a day. Every 24-hours the thoroughbred consumes twelve quarts of oats and 40-pounds of hay. Blondy Ryan, shortstop of the Giants, once threw a 60-yard pass that gave Holy Cross a football victory over Harvard. Sydney Franklin, Brooklyn bull fighter, says the most sensitive parts of a bull's anatomy are the tips of its horns. He should know. A baseball league that travels by bus is termed a "horse and buggy league." In 1908, Fletcher Durham of the Indianapolis Indians hurled five double-headers, winning all ten games.

Wall Street Expresses Disappointment Over Speech By Roosevelt

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—Wall street expressed disappointment over President Roosevelt's radio speech by selling stocks today. Losses in the pivotal leaders ran from fractions to more than 2 points, and while trading was not heavy, the trend appeared to be definitely downward. The onset of liquidation also coincided with the assumption of stock exchange control by far the weakest group in the market. Atchison, New York Central, Lackawanna, and Southern Railway bore the brunt of the liquidation and suffered losses running to 2 points. The selling here was due in part apparently to the request by 15 state railroad commissions that the interstate commerce commission refuse to raise freight rates on wheat and other grains. Industrial shares were also in considerable supply with United States Steel, Westinghouse, General Electric and other issues representing the heavy industries dipping more than a point in most instances. General Motors and Chrysler were the weak spots in the motor group dropping more than a point each. National Biscuit was an individual weak spot sinking more than a point to a new low for the year. Utilities were moderately reactionary.

Street Signs To Be Repaired And Painted If Project Wins Approval

Among the projects which the city proposes to submit to the RWD are the repair and painting of fire hydrants here. Councilman Davies also said the city would present another project for the repair and painting of street signs. Asked if the city would have the exterior appearance of the city building improved by the RWD he said that might prove too costly but that he could not definitely answer the question as yet.

ELLWOOD - BUTLER PLAY SCORELESS BATTLE SATURDAY

Great Game Put Up By Two Teams At Lincoln Field In Steady Drizzle Here

TUBERS LOSE BALL ON ONE FOOT MARK

ELLWOOD CITY, Oct. 1.—In a steady drizzle and a wet and slippery field Ellwood City High and Butler High gridders battled to a scoreless tie at Lincoln Field here on Saturday afternoon before a fair crowd. Despite the advantage that such a condition would give the heavier Butler team the locals proved equal to the task and battled them to a standstill. Due to the condition of the field the locals were only able to use straight football. In view of the statistics and developments of the game, the Blue and White outplayed their opponents. The Tubers twice penetrated the ten yard mark, and once to lose the ball on the one foot line. The furthest Butler got was the twelve yard mark. Ellwood outgained their opponents from scrimmage 145 yards to 105 for Butler.

The game was surprising because of the fact that there was only one fumble, and then Sandooop of Butler recovered this to get away a fair punt. Ellwood's new field was considerably dug up during the game. More grass will have to be sown and the field rolled again today. Both eleven played cautious football in the opening stanza and resorted to off tackle plays and line plunges, and an occasional end run. Both teams had two first downs at the end of the period. In the ensuing chapter the Tubers kept the Butler fans on edge as they launched a strong offensive drive. It was early in the period when Dunn was forced to punt from his own 30. Alex Robuck received it on Ellwood 30 and advanced it to the 38. On the first play Scopelitte squirmed his way through right guard for twelve yards. Then Bognosky hit right tackle for 5. On the next play the longest run of the day was produced. Bill Young on a well executed reverse play to the right raced 24 yards before he was brought down by the Butler secondary in the shadow of their goal posts. Butler was caught napping on the next play when Robuck passed to Jeannette for another first down on Butler's 11-yard line. Bognosky then hit left guard for two yards. Scopelitte hit the center of the line for 4 and again for 2. On last down Referee Cutler called a very questionable decision that raised the ire of local fans. Scopelitte again hit the line, for all appearances another first down. He was tackled by a Butler man and brought back a step or so. Referee Cutler put the ball down where Scopelitte was tackled back. Ellwood thus missed a first down by inches and lost the ball a foot or so from the goal.

The Ellwood City nine displayed championship class throughout the game, which was free of errors. They played the type of ball they were really capable of and held their opponents scoreless.

Brown duplicated this feat of his teammate. Sank McCullough also aided materially with two hits. Cracraft got a double for Bessemer. P. Nord was also outstanding with two hits for the home team.

In order to stop a threatened rally by Ellwood, D. Nord who had only given three hits up to the seventh inning, was replaced by Snyder. Ellwood hit him for two hits, which resulted in two runs.

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—Wall street expressed disappointment over President Roosevelt's radio speech by selling stocks today. Losses in the market were not heavy, and the trend appeared to be definitely downward. The onset of liquidation also coincided with the assumption of stock exchange control by far the weakest group in the market. Atchison, New York Central, Lackawanna, and Southern Railway bore the brunt of the liquidation and suffered losses running to 2 points. The selling here was due in part apparently to the request by 15 state railroad commissions that the interstate commerce commission refuse to raise freight rates on wheat and other grains. Industrial shares were also in considerable supply with United States Steel, Westinghouse, General Electric and other issues representing the heavy industries dipping more than a point in most instances. General Motors and Chrysler were the weak spots in the motor group dropping more than a point each. National Biscuit was an individual weak spot sinking more than a point to a new low for the year. Utilities were moderately reactionary.

DENIES HE'S MYSTERIOUS "JOHN"

JAMES BOWMAN

The limelight of the Lindbergh baby kidnapping case which has been focused on the eastern part of the United States with the arrest of Bruno Hauptmann and the finding of $13,000 of the ransom money, turned its rays toward Chicago upon the arrest of James Bowman, former inmate of the federal prison at Leavenworth, Kas. Bowman is shown as he was questioned at the Chicago detective bureau, denying he is the mysterious "John" who carried on ransom negotiations. Bowman also is known as John Bowen.

Robert Moses

Herbert H. Lehman

For first time in history, Jews are rival nominees of the major parties in a U. S. gubernatorial race, Democrats having renominated Gov. Herbert H. Lehman at Buffalo, where he is shown making speech of acceptance; G. O. P. choice is Robert Moses, state and New York City commissioner of parks.

By RooseveltLIST IS OFF
SEVERAL POINTS

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—Wall street expressed disappointment over President Roosevelt's radio speech by selling stocks today. Losses in the pivotal leaders ran from fractions to more than 2 points, and while trading was not heavy, the trend appeared to be definitely downward.

The onset of liquidation also coincided with the assumption of stock exchange control by far the weakest group in the market. Atchafon, New Central, Lackawanna, and Southern Railway bore the brunt of the liquidation and suffered losses running to 2 points. The selling here was due in part apparently to the request by 15 state railroad commissions that the interstate commerce commission refuse to raise freight rates on wheat and other grains.

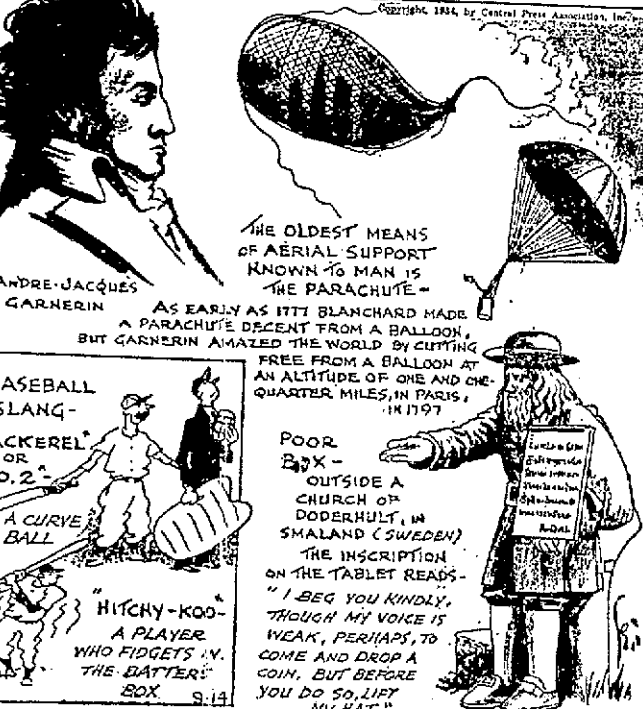

Industrial shares were also in considerable supply with United States Steel, Westinghouse, General Electric and other issues representing the heavy industries dipping more than a point in most instances.

General Motors and Chrysler were the weak spots in the motor group dropping more than a point each.

National Biscuit was an individual weak spot sinking more than a point to a new low for the year. Utilities were moderately reactionary.

PLAY SCORELESS
BATTLE SATURDAYGreat Game Put Up By Two Teams At Lincoln Field
In Steady Drizzle
HereTUBERS LOSE BALL
ON ONE FOOT MARK

ELLWOOD CITY, Oct. 1.—In a steady drizzle and a wet and slippery field Ellwood City High and Butler High battled to a scoreless tie at Lincoln Field here on Saturday afternoon before a fair crowd.

Despite the advantage that such a condition would give the heavier Butler team the locals proved equal task and battled them to a standstill. Due to the condition of the field the locals were only able to use straight football. In view of the statistics and developments of the game, the Blue and White outplayed their opponents. The Tubers twice penetrated the ten yard mark, and once to lose the ball on the one foot line. The furthest Butler got was the twelve yard mark. Ellwood outgained their opponents from scrimmage 145 yards to 105 for Butler.

The game was surprising because of the fact that there was only one fumble, and then Sandloof of Butler recovered this to get away a fair punt. Ellwood's new field was considerably dug up during the game. More grass will have to be sown and the field rolled again today.

Ellwood Threatens
Both elevens played cautious football in the opening stanza and plunged, and an occasional end run. Both teams had two first downs at the end of the period. In the ensuing chapter the Tubers kept the Butler fans on edge as they launched a strong offensive drive. It was early in the period when Dunn was forced to punt from his own 30. Alex Robuck received it on Ellwood 30 and advanced it to the 38. On the first play Scopelitte squirmed his way through right guard for twelve yards. Then Bognosky hit right tackle for 5. On the next play the longest run of the day was produced. Bill Young on a well executed running play to the right raced 24 yards before he was brought down by the Butler secondary in the shadow of their goal posts.

Butler was caught napping on the next play when Robuck passed to Jeannette for another first down on Butler's 11-yard line. Bognosky then hit left guard for two yards. Scopelitte hit the center of the line for 4 and again for 2. On last down Referee Cutler called a very questionable decision that raised the line of local fans. Scopelitte again hit the line, for all appearances another first down. He was tackled by a Butler man and brought back a step down where Scopelitte was tackled down. Ellwood thus missed a first down by inches and lost the ball a foot or so from the goal.

Resort To Passing
In the third quarter Ellwood was in a hole for awhile when Bognosky was mostly fought in Ellwood's territory. Once Butler got as far as the 12 yard line and once to the 15. Bognosky began to regain his punting form in the final chapter and got Ellwood out of the hole. Once again the locals were on the offensive. Both teams resorted to the air frequently in this period. Just before the close each were intercepting the others passes. Young had completed a 15 yard pass to Bognosky as the final whistle blew.

The Benedictines again displayed class against a heavier and more rangy opponent. Ellwood fans freely expressed the opinion that had the field been dry the situation would have been entirely different. Captain Bettori, Jeannette, and Rocco played a bang up game for Ellwood in the line. Tony Scopelitte and Bill Young were the chief ground gainers, with Bognosky coming in on an occasional dash. Alex Robuck thrilled the crowd by catching and returning the slippery and soggy ball on all the punts. Sterling, Collins, McNamane, Sandloof, and Webster were outstanding for Butler.

The game was clean and hard fought. There were only two pen-

Baseball Title Is

Champs Win Deciding Game At Bessemer
Sunday, 3-1PAUL McCULLOUGH
PITCHES FINE GAME

ELLWOOD CITY, Oct. 1.—Ellwood City has a real truly worthy sports champion in the Shelby Social Club baseball team, which added the Lawrence County baseball title to its Beaver County crown, when they defeated Bessemer 3-1 in the deciding game Sunday afternoon at Bessemer.

The Ellwood City nine displayed championship class throughout the game, which was free of errors. Bessemer scored a run in the first inning and the Tubers dundlocked the count with a run in the third. There were no scores then until the seventh chapter, when the famous closing rally of the Ellwood champs again came to the fore. Shelby brought two runs across the plate at this time. They played the type of ball they were really capable of and held their opponents scoreless.

Paul McCullough who yielded only five hits and was pitching a splendid game for Shelby, helped to win his own game by smacking out a double late in the game. Brown duplicated his feat of his teammate. Sank McCullough also aided materially with two hits. Cracraft got a double for Bessemer. P. Nord was also outstanding with two hits for the home team.

In order to stop a threatened rally by Ellwood, D. Nord who had only given three hits up to the seventh inning, was replaced by Snyder. Ellwood hit him for two hits, which resulted in two runs.

DENIES HE'S MYSTERIOUS "JOHN"

JAMES BOWMAN
The limelight of the Lindbergh baby kidnapping case which has been focused on the eastern part of the United States with the arrest of Bruno Hauptmann and the finding of $13,000 of the ransom money, turned its rays toward Chicago upon the arrest of James Bowman, former inmate of the federal prison at Leavenworth, Kas. Bowman is shown as he was questioned at the Chicago detective bureau, denying he is the mysterious "John" who carried on ransom negotiations. Bowman also is known as John Bowen.

Shanmont Hose

To Sell at

In wearing these stockings, particular attention has been given to strengthening them at the heel corners. By test it was discovered that many runs began at these points. In addition, this stocking has a double strength foot, heel and toe. It achieves its dull, good looking knee by being made of 20-turn silk. Of course every pair is first quality. At this price, you'll want to buy 3 to 6 pairs in new fall shades.
